TERMS, $2.00 A YEAR.

60 YEARS

Golden weddings are more or less common, but it is rather unusual to find a couple who have lived together in wedlock for sixty or more years.

On May 1, 1850, Kimball A. Stevens and Mary Elizabeth Woodbury were married in Worcester, Mass. They are now living in our midst on Beacon street, Newton Centre, having rounded out on Sunday their sixtieth anniversary.

Mrs. Stevens, who is nearly eighty-seven, is hale and hearty, up and about the house and attending to her various household duties. Mr. Stevens, who is eighty-four, has been an invalid for twelve or fourteen years, although able to be about to a certain extent.

Mr. Stevens was a veteran of the Civil war, having served in Company B. Sixth Massachusetts Regiment, and has been much interested in the Grand Army, being a member of the Pepperell (Mass.) Post.

The greater part of their married life has been spent in Massachusetts, having lived in Worcester, Dunstable, Pepperell and Newton Centre, and spending a short time in Westmoreland, N. H. They are at present residing with their eldest son, Frank Stevens, who, with their younger son, Edward, of Wellesley Hills, and their two grandchildren, met with them on their anniversary.

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

The Western Branch of the Sunday School Union of the diocese of Massachusetts was held Tuesday at the Church of the Messiah, Dunstable. A good number of teachers were present and addresses on "Teacher Training" were given by Mrs. Holts of Lynn, Miss Wright of Boston and by Rev. Carlton P. Mills, the educational secretary for Massachusetts. It was voted to have teacher training classes in Boston and a branch class in some part of Newton. A supper was served between the afternoon and evening sessions. The officers elected for the coming year are: President, Rev. Richard T. Loring; vice-president, Charles M. Ford; secretary and treasurer, Rev. John Matteson; executive committee, Gordon James, Rev. Laurens MacLure, Miss Newhall. The next meeting will be held in the parish house of All Saints' Church, Brookline.

The J. S. Kennedy Co., grocers, formerly at 347 Moody street, Waltham, have removed to their new and commodious store, 83 Moody street, where they will be pleased to meet their Newton patrons. In addition to their regular stock of fine groceries they have the best qualities of choice fruit, vegetables and fine confectionery. See adv.

DINNER

The annual dinner of the Katahdin Club was held Wednesday evening at the Newton Club. There was a large attendance of members and friends and an informal reception was held in the parlors from 6 to 6:30, when dinner was served in the hall. President J. William Blaisdell presided at the post-prandial exercises and after the report of the secretary had been read, he introduced the special guest of the evening, Prof. Donald B. MacMillan, who described his experiences as a member of Commander Peary's latest expedition to the Arctic. Prof. MacMillan went nearly to the Pole and as he has an accurate knowledge of the Eskimo language and customs he had much information of interest. In relating the story of the Peary expedition he emphasized the value of the commander's previous study of the polar regions and how it attributed largely to the successful result. A party of about 50 Eskimos and their wives were with the Americans during the journey and their happy disposition drove away the melancholy with which the explorer's party was threatened after the departure of the ship. A large number of very fine pictures were thrown upon the screen to illustrate the speaker's remarks and included members of the party, the equipment, the dogs, ice views and the North Pole, with the American flag floating in the breeze from an elevation of ice.

MILLINERY SALE.

Mlle. Caroline has marked down all of her imported models as well as her own designs. This is an opportunity to secure high quality and correct millinery—hats, toques and bonnets—properly fitted and adapted, by a skilled milliner who regularly goes abroad, at a low price. How unsatisfactory is a hat or bonnet that lacks "fit and finish"? These necessities for comfort and style are not to be had at many shops down town. Sale begins at once at her rooms, 486 Boylston street, Boston, in the block of the Brunswick Hotel.

TENNIS.

The Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club fared badly Saturday in the opening of the Suburban League, winning only one match in singles from the Longwood C. C. second team. C. W. Wilbur was the only home player to win.

CLOSE CALL

A touring car owned by Mr. E. W. Hodgson of Shoreline road, Newton, skidded on a deep incline on Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, last Saturday morning, turned two complete circles and then upset. In the car at the time were Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson, their daughter and their two small sons and the chauffeur. The accident was caused by the coating of oil on the roadway and while the power was shut off the greasy surface gave no grip to the tires. The top of the automobile held the occupants in the car after it had turned over and they were unhurt other than a few bruises. The machine was only slightly damaged.

Preliminary plans for the great meeting on "Newton's Educational Methods," to be held in the Mason School Hall on Monday evening, May 23, 1910, include brief addresses by Superintendent Spaulding on "What We Are Trying To Do"; by Mr. Charles Kirschner, principal of the Technical High School, on "Vocational Training in our High Schools," and by Mr. Michael Murray, supervisor of manual training, on "Vocational Training in our Elementary Schools." Further announcements will be made next week.

Boston Opera House.—The fact that Balfe's much-loved opera, "The Bohemian Girl," is never included in the repertoires of those grand opera organizations made up of world-famous stars, makes it a welcome novelty in the series of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Boston Opera House. "The Bohemian Girl" has not been presented in Boston in a long time, and probably never before upon the elaborate scale promised in the coming Aborn revival of it for their fifth week, beginning Monday night, May 9. Therefore it will be like a brand new offering to many of the younger generation, who have heard and admired all of the dear old melodies and other musical beauties of this opera without having witnessed its presentation as a whole, and at the same time it will be a welcome renaissance to older music lovers. This is one of the few grand operas originally written in English, and is practically the only one of that language to reach high success and subsequent popularity. It corresponds remarkably to the Italian "lyric" operas, but critics often call it a ballad opera on account of so many numbers of that description in its score, including such treasured gems as "The Heart Bow'd Down," "I Dream't I Dwell'd in Marble Halls," "The Gypsy Bride," "The Fair Land of Poland," "Then You'll Remember Me," "Bliss Forever Past," the gypsy quartet in the second act, etc.

BANQUET

The 33rd annual meeting of the association was called to order by Vice-President C. L. Ellison, Monday evening at 6:30. Mr. Ellison told of the work of the building committee in preparing plans for the new building and also urged all members to give their best efforts to the association, so that there might be a large association with many activities when it was time to occupy the new building. He next called upon Frederick D. Fuller, who presented N's to members of the athletic, basket and baseball teams.

General Secretary H. W. Bascom was then called upon for a report of the year's work. He stated that two things the association had undertaken at the beginning of the year had been accomplished, namely, the raising of money for a new building, second, the determination to increase the scope and efficiency of the work. Raising the money for the new building is now a matter of history, and the following figures show that the association is meeting the needs of a larger number of men and boys than ever before.

The membership is now 453, 250 were enrolled in gymnasium classes, 15 men and 52 boys were enrolled in Bible classes, 40 have been directed to good boarding places and positions have been found for 12. There are two flourishing boys' clubs and a cabinet which bears about the same relation to the boys' department as the board of directors does to the association. There have been recreation trips and outings for both boys and men and many of the members spent part of the summer at the camps at Becket and Friendship, Me. The year's work has been very profitable because so many volunteer workers have co-operated with the paid officers to forward the work.

The association could undertake many lines of work if only there was money enough. An endowment is needed, the income of which could be used for supervision of the work of the association, also a fund to provide for a course of religious and educational talks for young men, also a camp site for boys and young men where they spend parts of their vacation in the open air under good influences and helpful surroundings.

When Mr. Ellison introduced Dr. George S. Butters the young men gave Mr. Butters an ovation, showing how much they appreciated what he has done for the association. The

MAY PARTY

The regular meeting of Palestine Chapter 114, O. E. S., was held in Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening. A large number of visitors from Brookline, Boston and other neighboring chapters were present. After the work of the evening, visitors and members assembled in the banquet hall, where a large table was beautifully decorated with a variety of colors, and a grand display of May baskets of all sizes. Brother D. Frank Lord was chief marshal of a lively May basket parade, which was enjoyed by all.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Dalhousie Lodge of Masons will celebrate its 50th anniversary with a religious service in the lodge room, Masonic building, Newtonville, on Sunday afternoon, May 29, at 3:30 o'clock, in charge of Rev. Albert Hammett, chaplain of the lodge. On Wednesday, June 1, special exercises will be held in the lodge room, followed by a banquet in Temple Hall.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Mr. Fred B. Smith of New York city will address a great mass meeting for men next Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. in Eliot Church. Men from 25 churches in Newton and Watertown, in all a great company, will be present.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. baseball team play the strong Everett team Saturday at 3:30 on the North Diamond, Cabot Park.

If there should be any man who wishes to be present at the complimentary dinner to Fred B. Smith, to be held Saturday evening, it may be possible even at this late date to obtain ticket from the general secretary of the association.

closing feature of the program was a one-act comedy entitled "April Fools," given by Messrs. Fraser, Bacon and Smith. All participants did well and received generous applause.

A committee from Women's Auxiliary served the supper. Other features were music by King's Orchestra and singing by members of the association.

The following officers and directors were chosen: Directors for three years, A. C. Emery, V. B. Sweet, C. V. Moore, F. W. Ganse, Howard Whitmore, Frank Hayden. Officers of the association, Allen C. Emery, president; C. L. Ellison, vice-president; J. W. Blaisdell, treasurer; C. V. Moore, clerk.

WAGES RISE

At 1:30 a. m. Saturday morning all motormen and conductors of the local street railway were invited to a gathering held at Players' Hall, West Newton. The participants came in special cars from Lexington, Natick, South Framingham, Hopkinton, Auburndale, Waltham, etc.

The general manager, C. A. Sylvester, announced for the directors somewhat as follows:

Notwithstanding the fact that financially, neither the Middlesex & of directors appreciating that the Street Railway Companies is in a position to increase wages, at the same time our president and board of directors appreciating that the cost of living has increased, wish to make a sacrifice for your benefit and have authorized me to announce an increase in the rates of pay, effective Sunday, May 1, 1910.

In considering the effect which it may have upon each of you, personally, remember that our system is not like the Boston Elevated or in fact any of the large urban or interurban roads; remember that some of our roads instead of making money are losing money or are not meeting expenses; the Lexington & Boston Street Railway Company has not been earning any return on the investment for a number of years; the Newton & Boston division has lost money for a great many years; remember that the expenses of operation have increased tremendously but the earning capacity of the roads has not increased in the same proportion.

The new schedule provides an increase for every motorman and conductor. It also provides for a sliding scale which gives an increase each year.

The average increase per man is one (1) cent per hour. The additional expense of this change amounts to approximately $10,000 per year.

In closing, Mr. Sylvester announced that the directors had contributed $500 to the fund of the Suburban Railway Club, a benefit association composed of employees of the Middlesex & Boston and Lexington & Boston Street Railway Companies. The club has in its treasury $500 and the directors gave $500 more, so that there would be $1000 flat in the treasury for the relief fund.

Following Mr. Sylvester's remarks, Mr. E. M. Richards, treasurer; Mr. G. M. Cox, assistant treasurer, and president of the Suburban Railway Club, and Mr. Pitt F. Drew, attorney, gave brief addresses.

After the addresses refreshments were served.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE.

Newton Federation of Women's Clubs

While the interest of the Social Service committee has been enlisted in various directions, the larger portion of our work has been, of necessity, in connection with the camp at Newton Hospital for tuberculosis patients and in care and visiting many patients in various parts of the city.

Just one year ago we were pleased to report to you that as need had developed, the small portable house purchased for use as an out-patient department and possible headquarters for a day camp, had been enlarged, a tent added and equipment arranged for the comfortable care of ten patients under continuous treatment.

Six beds were placed on the piazza of the house and four in the tent. Until quite recently the camp has been occupied all the time, often to its utmost capacity. No effort has been spared by superintendent or nurses to make patients comfortable and happy, and to instruct them in the best methods of caring for themselves. The good effect of simple, nourishing food and quiet outdoor living have been demonstrated to them.

While some patients taken into the camp were beyond the possibility of recovery, others have been most encouraging. We count among our results a widespread interest in our work and ready assistance. We have been obliged frequently to call upon the city through the Board of Health for assistance in support of patients and have met with most courteous and immediate co-operation.

Our tents have been loaned at request, and our visitors have looked up many cases reported to us.

One patient, who was for a long time in the camp at Newton Hospital, was moved to a state institution. Not happy there, she has returned to spend the remainder of her life with her family. We have loaned to them two tents which they have put up in a healthy locality adjoining a tiny house. The family will live there, husband and wife will sleep in the tents, using the little house for the cooking, eating, etc. One child, who is old enough to be taught necessary precautions, will remain with her parents. The other child, only two, will be boarded elsewhere at the expense of the Federation.

Patients are reported or sent directly to us from the Massachusetts General Hospital. Those reported are often difficult to find because their own pronunciation of the residences have been misunderstood and sent to us as recorded at the hospital.

When our Newton camp was opened there were no state sanatoria open to tuberculosis patients in advanced conditions of the disease. During the year the sanatoria at North Reading and at Rutland have been opened and we are enabled to send patients to those places at a cost of $4 per week to us against $15 per week at Newton. For the reason that we must use the money in our treasury for the greatest good of many, and because change of air and scene seemed to be desirable, five patients were taken to North Reading. One went to Lakeville, one to a private hospital at Rutland, and several were discharged—able to go home.

For a few weeks there were no patients in the Newton camp. One is there at present, making rapid strides toward recovery; others will be there soon.

Adjusting our conclusions for the year this committee realizes that we have learned much which will help us to go on with this work in the interest of good health to much better advantage. Larger amounts of money have been expended of necessity for individual cases than will be necessary again. We now understand better how to obtain financial assistance from other sources.

By action of the Executive Board recommended by this committee the camp at the Newton Hospital will be considered as a place to which to send patients for immediate care and for observation until the best course for the good of patient can be decided, and other location found. Practically the same decision has been made by the hospital authorities and the Board of Health.

The camp is of greatest value, used as just mentioned, for Federation patients, for city patients and for patients found in the hospital.

Sixteen patients have been cared for in the camp for periods varying from one or two months to ten months.

Through the sale of the Christmas stamps we made a net income of $629.60. The remaining stamps will be for sale this year.

From the Mothers' Club $100 was put into our hands to use for children or mothers and children; $50 has been given by the Social Science Club to use for emergency work—a most valuable department of our work. $5 has recently been pledged by the Caleb Stark Chapter, Children of the Revolution. For all these gifts we are very grateful.

Other subjects considered by this committee have been as follows: At a meeting early last summer Dr. Andrews of Newton Centre spoke to us concerning the great need of pure milk, especially in the localities where poor people live. We believe that the condition of the sale of milk has been improved.

We considered urging the general use of sanitary drinking fountains in the public schools, but the education committee has taken that up.

We are now trying to bring considerable influence to bear in behalf of a "Saner, safer Fourth of July."

We shall soon introduce to you the work of the Newton school nurse, hoping to influence assistance in her most interesting work and to ask your co-operation in placing good dental work within the reach of poor people.

Through this committee speakers have come to Executive Board meetings and told in an interesting manner of "Savings Bank Insurance" and "Industrial Conditions of Women and Children."

The committee will welcome suggestions for good work in the interest of the city of Newton.

Respectfully submitted,
HELEN C. TAYLOR,
Chairman.

DONATION PARTY

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION.

At the Newton Hospital on Monday afternoon the Hospital Aid Association held its annual meeting preceding the May Day reception. The same officers were re-elected: President, Mrs. H. H. Carter; vice-president, Mrs. H. P. Bellows; secretary, Mrs. Samuel Ward; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Gould.

The special work in hand at present is the fitting up of a room for the use of surgeons and nurses in preparing for operations. It is proposed to partition off a portion of the end of the corridor opposite the operating room for this purpose and the expense will be $475. $300 was appropriated for it with the hope of securing the remainder from special gifts.

Some idea of the work which the association does will be gained from the list of articles which it has given the hospital during the past year as reported by the secretary. It was as follows: Food carriage, set of china for nurses' dining room, 4 dozen short nightgowns for men's ward, 3 dozen sheets and pillow slips, 2 dozen spreads, 3 covered bakers, 3 copper kettles, 2 dozen chairs for wards, 10 camp chairs for out-patient department, 10 rattan chairs for private wards, 4 cot beds, 4 dozen blankets, 3 dozen carpet strips, 5 wheeled chairs and $91 for blankets, besides repairs and renovating of furniture.

The association kept open house at the hospital from 3:30 until 6. The president and Miss Riddle were on hand to welcome the visitors and nurses were there to escort them about the buildings. Mrs. B. E. Taylor and Mrs. T. M. Holden of Newton Centre and Mrs. G. D. Byfield of Newton were in charge of the room where donations were received. The dining room was in charge of Mrs. Frank A. Day and Mrs. E. H. Ellison, assisted by Mrs. H. P. Bellows, Mrs. W. H. Gould, Mrs. J. Q. A. Whittemore, Mrs. J. F. Bothfield, Mrs. W. T. Farley, Mrs. Laurens MacLure, Mrs. A. G. Cummings, Mrs. Marcus Morton, Mrs. W. C. Bray and many of the young ladies of the city.

The donations were varied and generous, including a considerable sum of money which will practically assure the work on the surgeon's room.

self with are invited to send such suggestions to the secretary, Mr.
Charles D. Cabot, who will see that they are brought before the association in some effective way. The association stands for the betterment of anything that can make Newton-ville more desirable as a place of residence.

sor road is ill at the Newton Hospital.

—Miss Janet Kane of Beacon street spent the week's end at Northampton as the guest of her cousins at Smith.

sor road entertained the members of the Luncheon Whist Club at Brae Burn on Thursday afternoon.

—Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury of Beacon street was re-elected president of the Newton Federation of Womens Clubs
at the annual meeting on Monday.

of Waban avenue are now rapidly convalescing from cases of diphtheria and are well on the road to recovery.

—The Guild of the Good Shepherd held its weekly meeting, the last of the season, at the home of Mrs. W.
M. Toles, Moffat road on Tuesday afternoon. Tea was served.

street suffered the loss of his mother this week, who died at her home in

—Waban plays Newton Highlands

—The Bazaar held by the Guild of the Good Shepherd in Waban Hall last Friday was a great success, socially and financially, and over $225 will be cleared from it. Under the efficient management of Mrs. W. M.
Toles the president and thanks to the devoted labors of many of the members everything went off with delightful smoothness. In the evening there was a short entertainment consisting of remarkably clever imitations of instruments and animals by Miss Sal-sig, and a number of graceful and splendidly executed fancy dances by Miss Jane Bacon. Dancing followed for the young people, to the notes of Waban's Boy orchestra.

—The Boston terrier, "Sausage", owned by Mr. Wm. Saville of Windsor road was run over and instantly killed, on Tuesday afternoon at the corner of Windsor road and Beacon street, by a touring car, numbered 1470. The driver was not wholly to blame as he was avoiding another dog at the time but after the accident kept on without stopping thereby displaying to say the least a more compensible and cowardly spirit. A number of small children were on the street at the same place when the accident occurred, and the spot is one of the most dangerous in Newton near the railroad bridge and at the intersection of four streets, yet in spite of the large sign erected by the Improvement Society two years ago warning motorists and asking that extra care be used, cars go through at a great speed constantly.

WEST NEWTON NURSERY

At the regular monthly meeting of the Day Nursery Association on Tuesday, May 3, Mrs. Eva W. White, the head of Elizabeth Peabody House, Boston, gave a practical and helpful talk on "Day Nurseries and Neighborhood Work."

Beginning with the Day Nursery, she spoke of its coming into existence as an offset to the tendency to put children into institutions, by trying to preserve the homes. She told of the duties of the Nursery, of its attempting to make the homes fit for the children; of its influence upon the parents, brothers and sisters of the children left in its care; of its being a starting point for gaining a knowledge of the homes of the community; of its being the centre of Neighborhood Work through its classes; of its development into Neighborhood Work, and of the ultimate hope that the need for its existence will some day be outgrown. But as this result cannot possibly follow for many years, the need for its maintenance until that time arrives is very urgent.

After giving a few of her own personal experiences, Mrs. White closed by stating what she called four primary facts to be kept in mind in all Nursery work. First, if possible, the preservation of the home; second, the co-operation of the Nursery with the home; third, the following up of the children after they leave the Nursery; and fourth, the endeavor to obtain through careful investigation, as complete a knowledge as possible of neighborhood conditions.

Later, upon visiting the Nursery, she congratulated the association upon the juxtaposition of the new public playground, and the possibilities that might in time be developed for co-operation with the city.

A report was then made by the treasurer, that during the month of April a fund had been raised sufficient to purchase the Elm street property now rented for the use of the Day Nursery, and to put it into good condition for its various needs.

Mrs. Charles H. Ames the president, and Mrs. James A. Neal, the treasurer, take this opportunity to express for the Day Nursery Association the appreciation and gratitude felt by all connected with the work, toward those friends who have shown by their generous responses their belief in the importance of this one distinctive local charity. THE NEWTON VACATION WEEK.

The work of the Newton Vacation Week is too well known to need any long explanation. Its object, that of giving a season of summer rest and recreation to tired out working women who have not the means to make such rest possible for themselves, has appealed in the past to many who have enjoyed brightening life for those who are living in the shade. For 18 years past its funds have been obtained by "A Sale", held in June, the proceeds of which have been used to give days of vacation to those who most need it, and yet have not means to obtain it.

Last year the sum of $312 was received, which helped to brighten the summer for 10 worthy women, and twice that number of children, to whom an excursion to seashore or park made a white day in their vacation calendar, besides giving over emergencies for half a score of lonely women, growing older each day and less capable of sustaining themselves.

This year the sale must be omitted and the funds to carry on the work obtained by donations from any to whom the object appeals. Will not each of us who is looking forward to weeks of summer rest at seashore or mountains enjoy the outing better if we contribute the cost of one day's excursion, to give a holiday to some one who otherwise will have no outing?

Donations small or large may be sent to Mrs. A. B. Bassett, Mrs. F. W. Hazelwood, Mrs. H. B. Hibbard, Miss Mary Childs, Miss Emma E. Walker, Miss Louise Sherman, Miss Elizabeth Spear.

THE HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB.

In addition to the miscellaneous program to be given by the club at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, Wednesday evening, May 18, at 8 o'clock, the following soloists will assist: Miss Nina Fletcher, violinist, who has recently returned from abroad and who was soloist this season for the Boston Symphony Orchestra with much success; also Signor Virginio Capelloni, baritone, at the urgent request of his friends.

The people of Newton are to have a rare privilege next Tuesday evening, May 10, in the opportunity to hear Dr. Gunsaulus, assisted by the choir of his church, give his unique lecture recital, "Life as Illustrated in Music." The Chicago Tribune describes it as "a magnificent presentation of a great theme by a master mind and artists of the first order." The idea is an original and beautiful one and is developed with the great preacher's own skill and power. The lecture is to be given in Central Church, Newtonville, and the proceeds are to be devoted to the debt fund of that church.

RECITAL.

Miss Alice Foster Peirce gave the last of her pupils' recitals for this season at the MacDowell Club rooms, Symphony Chambers, Boston, on the afternoon of April 28. It was illustrative of all grades and kinds of work to which the piano lends itself. Among the names of the young people on the program appeared the following from the Newtons: The Misses Sarah Barbara Lucas, Helen Tucker Elms, Laura Coffin Elms, Anna Elms, Harriet Rice Ellison and Maude Irving Dyer.

DUDLEY ST. IMPROVEMENTS

TRANSFERS SIMPLIFIED - CAPACITY INCREASED

1420 CARS HOURLY

The changes that are nearing completion at the Dudley Street "L" station simplify the transfer system by providing open passageways, without turnstiles, between platforms connecting cars making trips in the same general direction. These changes likewise give the station a capacity for handling 1420 cars in a single hour. More passengers use this station than ride upon the entire Boston & Maine railroad system in all of the New England states. These are some of the statements made by Mr. J. Henry Neal, general auditor of the Boston "L" in an interview in which he said:

"The original Dudley street station accomplished much and fulfilled its mission for many years by giving the people transfer privileges superior to those which they had previously enjoyed.

"Inconveniences and annoyances of the paper transfer slips were done away with and bodily transfer inaugurated.

"As the business grew, however, the loading and unloading on the same platform became a serious matter, and finally the extension of the Elevated to Forest Hills rendered it absolutely imperative that this station should be rebuilt.

"In carrying out this work it was impossible to close this great terminal, and consequently there is no doubt that at times the public was confused.

To Increase Capacity.
 "When the station is entirely completed, which will be in a few weeks, it will have a capacity of 1420 cars an hour, or 231-2 cars a minute whereas in the South Terminal station 817 trains daily are handled, or a total of about 4902 cars in a whole day.

"In order that you may have an idea of the magnitude of the business transacted at this station, even at the present time, I might say that there are more passengers handled at the Dudley street station than are handled by the entire Boston & Maine railroad, from the boundary of Canada, in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts.

"There are handled at Dudley street five-eighths as many passengers as are handled by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, including its Grand Central station in New York, its great stations at Hartford, New Haven and Providence and the South station in Boston, and all intervening stations; that it handles more passengers than the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and the Boston & Maine railroad together handle to and from Boston in their mammoth terminals of the North and South stations.

Has Limited Area.

"The Boston Elevated is obliged in furnishing accommodations for this immense traffic to limit the station to the small area between the vastly important thoroughfares and junctions of Washington, Dudley and Warren streets, and not the whole of that.

"Few people there are, indeed, who realize this fact, and instead of an object of criticism, when all things are considered and the public has become used to the change, I feel assured that any fair-minded person will agree that it accomplishes marvels.

"The general plan of handling the traffic is very simple. In the first place, all persons going in town, or going north as we say, whether on the Elevated train from Forest Hills or in any surface car whatsoever, can change at Dudley street to any other surface car or Elevated train going in town without going through any turnstile and by taking the nearest or most convenient stairway.

"There is no need to pay another nickel so long as one does not go through a turnstile. Every passageway is open to every other passageway, and there is absolutely no impediment to the free bodily transfer of every person inward bound.

"So far as the outward-bound passengers are concerned, they, too, can use any platform or stairway whatsoever, either up or down, and select any car (or elevated train to Forest Hills) at will with the same absolute freedom.

"The turnstiles are to be used simply by those persons who come in town as far as Dudley street on one line and wish to go out of town on another; in short, 94 per cent. of the traffic is to and from the city to the suburbs direct, and only six per cent. between one suburban line on the south and another suburban line on the north, and the turnstiles must be used by this six per cent.

"There can be nothing simpler than this, and that it is already understood by the public is evident to any one who will stand and watch the throng between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening rapidly selecting their proper cars.

ADD DUDLEY STREET

Information Easily Obtained.
 "On Sundays and holidays, when people travel over unfamiliar routes, it is but natural that they should find it necessary to ask questions. If you were to go into a department store, and were looking for the stairways or elevators or any special counter, you would do well to make inquiries.

"According to a Boston newspaper a few days ago, even a blind man can find his way around this station, when familiar with conditions.

"The Dudley street station is amply provided with signs, and from eight to twenty-three platform attendants are on duty at all times, and these, together with the information which may be obtained from the hundreds of conductors and trainmen running in and out of the station, make it easy for even absolute strangers to obtain information.

"The handling of cars is accomplished on four loops, two on the upper level and two on the lower level. These loops are divided so that passengers unloading will not collide with those that are loading, a very distinct improvement.

"On the lower level, all cars on the north side of the loop are going in town and all on the upper side, or Dudley street side, are going out of town."

The courses given are especially for teachers, school superintendents, farm owners, suburban residents, country clergymen and rural social workers. The following subjects are included: Soils, field crops, fruit growing, practical gardening, landscape gardening, trees and shrubs, forestry, domestic animals, dairying, agricultural pedagogy, school agriculture, elementary and agricultural chemistry, plant experiments, plant life, botany, bird life, insect life and entomology, domestic science and school gardening.

The following subjects are offered especially for clergymen, but are open to others as well: Practical problems of the New England farmer, agricultural economics, the development of the rural community, the country school in the rural community, the church and the rural problem, co-operation, rural literature and the recent movements in agricultural education.

August 9 to 12 a conference of agricultural educators and rural social workers will be held. The speakers at this conference will include men of international reputation.

The price of board and room is low. No tuition is charged. The bulletin can be secured by writing to the Director of Short Courses, Amherst, Mass.

A supposedly well-informed woman recently stated: "Yes, I think the idea of equal suffrage would be more popular if there were not so many odd, short-haired people in it." Pressed to enumerate some such, she could not. Here are some of the people she so stigmatizes: Julia Ward Howe, Mary Johnston, author-ess; Dr. Borden P. Bowne, Colonel T. W. Higginson, Jane Addams of Hull House, Mark Twain, President Huntington of Boston University, Ida Husted Harper, and scores of other thoughtful, famous men and women.

Here are some interests opposed: The liquor interest, the war interest, the employers of child labor, the brothel interests, bribed politicians. What is the inference?

THEATRES

Hollis Street Theatre—Miss Ethel Barrymore has scored the greatest triumph of her wonderfully successful career in the play, which she is to present for two weeks beginning next Monday evening at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, and she has scored this triumph not as a comedienne but as an emotional actress. The play is the latest work of Sir Arthur W. Pinero and is called "Mid-Channel." Miss Barrymore's best friends have always believed that if the opportunity presented, she would come into her own and would successfully portray great big dramatic roles. But her warmest friends never believed that Miss Barrymore had the depth of emotion and the grasp of character she has brought out in the very trying role of Zoe Blandell, the heroine in "Mid-Channel." There are four acts in the play and during the time Miss Barrymore is on the stage there is scarcely a string in the entire gamut of passion that she does not touch with a skill of which any actress would be justly proud, and her scenes of intensity when passion is uppermost are played with assurance of touch and technique which places Miss Barrymore in the first rank of emotional actresses. Miss Barrymore will give one matinee each week of her engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre, on Saturdays.

Kelth's Theatre—Jesse Lasky's "Country Club," one of the biggest productions ever presented in vaudeville, with an atmosphere about it which will be particularly attractive at this time of the year, is the feature at Kelth's next week. Another big production is that of Tom Nawn and company called "When Pat Was King." It is in two scenes, one showing Pat as a gardener, and another when he becomes King of Ireland and to say that it is a succession of laughs from beginning to end is putting it mildly. Another feature on the same bill will be Willette Whitaker, the singer and harpist, who has a voice of remarkable power and sweetness. Les Trombetas, a big company of European singers and mimics, have a decidedly novel act, on the same bill will be Willette Mack and Nella Walker in a sketch; Doherty's Poodles, which will prove

Tremont Theatre—The greatest event of the present theatrical season is scheduled at the Tremont Theatre beginning Monday evening, May 9, when that extraordinary sensation, "The Girl in the Taxi," with Carter De Haven and its all-star cast of players, comes to Boston direct from its phenomenal run of more than 200 nights in Chicago. "The Girl in the Taxi" is probably the funniest entertainment, with a touch of sensationalism, that has been produced in years and its coming to the Tremont Theatre May 9 for a limited engagement may be looked forward to as the most noteworthy event of the year. The plot of the piece deals with the endeavors of a hopeful son to follow in the somewhat unconventional footsteps of his father, who, while posing as the incarnation of propriety in the home circle is really a great rouser on the outside, eating little midnight suppers with members of the chorus in the belief that this short life should be crowded with all the pleasures possible to obtain at whatever cost or risk. An evening spent with "The Girl in the Taxi" is sure to make anyone positively good natured.

American Music Hall—Of peculiar interest to all lovers of dumb animals will be the mammoth production at the American Music Hall next week of "Black Beauty," a vaudeville playlet founded on the world famous book of that name by Anna Sewell. The music end of the program will be well taken care of by the Romany Opera Company, a troupe of 20 accomplished grand opera singers. Cliff Gordon, the German Senator, may be relied upon to furnish his full quota of fun. Alva York is an English comedienne who has a line of material not yet heard on this side of the water. Hardeen, the handcuff king, will offer a program combining mystery with remarkable physical feats. The balance of the bill will include the Mayvilles, in a clever marionette act; Gallando, clay modeler, and Kelly and Ashby.

Kelth's Theatre—Jesse Lasky's "Country Club," one of the biggest productions ever presented in vaudeville, with an atmosphere about it which will be particularly attractive at this time of the year, is the feature at Kelth's next week. YOU KNOW, if you stop to think, that a lot of good heat escapes when you cook with the ordinary gas stove. You pay good money for that heat.

This Heat Distributor uses all of the heat. You need use only the front burners. One burner will cook a meal. One burner turned half off will keep a whole meal hot. There are eight or nine other points of advantage besides the economy. Send for our book. It will set you thinking.

NEW CHURCH.

It will be of interest to all citizens of Newton to know that one of the doors into the city is being guarded by a new Christian work that is being established in Oak square.

The Boston Mission and Church Extension Society had its attention called to this growing community three years ago and Rev. D. Stewart Smith, who was originally a member of the Newton Baptist Sunday school, was chosen. The Gospel Tent was pitched at the corner of Washington and Tremont streets.

The movement continued to gather force until about a year ago a new church was organized with some 50 members, and about 80 more were taken in during the first year.

During the very first year of the church's existence it was so successful that it was compelled to undertake the building of a larger place.

During the past few months efforts have been made to raise $3000 to buy a good lot of land, and it is expected that within a few days the land will be bought, and if all who are interested rally to the support it will be possible to pay in full when the deed is passed, which will probably be May 10.

McKinley & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin street, corner Congress, are showing the most extensive variety of beautiful Electric, Gas and Oil Lamps in the country, from their factory and all parts of the world. Also a selection of Fire Place Fittings, Andirons, Fenders, Screens and Spark Guards, suitable for hotels and summer cottages, at guaranteed prices.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

While many matters of importance have been acted upon this week, there is little of special interest to Newton. On Friday, Representative Bothfield had a lively scrap with the Ways and Means Committee over the resolve to investigate the cost of the proposed park and parkway between West Roxbury and Watertown. The Metropolitan Affairs Committee had proposed that the Metropolitan Park Commission make the investigation and were under the impression that the parties interested would furnish the desired information without expense. When heard by the Ways and Means Committee, the Park Commission, which did not have the information as to the data already on hand, stated that the investigation would cost $2000, and the committee reported it with that provision. Anything which adds expense to the Metropolitan Park district is viewed with suspicion this year, and Mr. Bothfield was notified that the resolve would be reflected on that account. He therefore moved to amend by reducing the amount to $200 and thereby aroused the ire of Representative N.
H. White of Brookline, chairman of the committee, but after a long debate, the amendment was adopted and the amended resolve passed by the House. It is now before the Senate Ways and Means.

All the Newton representatives are recorded against the federal income tax amendment to the constitution, and it was rejected by the House after a vote which shows that the income tax theory, if expressed in proper form, would have been overwhelmingly adopted. The objection raised to the present bill is the same as was so well expressed some weeks ago by Governor Hughes, that it is too broad in its scope. Mr. Pope of Leominster, a Democrat, spoke ably against the amendment, basing his objection of the good old-fashioned democratic doctrine, that it infringed upon state rights.

Another instance of the carelessness of committee work came to light this week, when it was discovered that the bill to allow the Mayor of Newton to remove city officials without the consent of the aldermen and signed by the Governor last March, applied to only minor officials. The committee on cities had two bills before it, and reported the wrong one.
Mr. Bothfield immediately took the matter up and a new petition was presented, which will be heard next Tuesday by the committee on cities.
So long as the referendum is attached it is of little moment, as I feel certain that the voters of Newton will promptly and emphatically reject any such proposition, as the whole strength of our excellent city administration depends upon keeping city officials out of politics.

BOARD OF SURVEY FAVORED AND OPPOSED BEFORE ALDERMEN

The meeting of the aldermen Monday evening was enlivened with stereopticon views and an interesting talk by Mr. Arthur A. Shurtleff of the Metropolitan Improvements Commission, made in connection with the hearing for a board of survey. Mr.
Shurtleff showed views of San Francisco, New York, Philadelphia, together with street plans in order to point out the inconvenience of the "gridiron" method of laying out of streets, and the failure to take into account any natural topography of the ground. In contrast he showed the layout of Washington, which he termed the most perfectly designed city in the world, together with the layout of Hamburg, Paris, Cologne and Antwerp. He also stated that the Metropolitan Improvements Commission had made a study of the street systems of every city and town in the district, and then showed how Boston, which has always been a joke for its crooked streets, had remarkable facilities for getting about in an advantageous manner, from a business standpoint. Views showing existing streets leading outward from Boston and also what he termed "circumferential streets" gave a clear idea of the present situation and the remarkable possibilities of future traffic. In Newton, Mr. Shurtleff said, we needed a better approach to Auburndale from West Newton, and to Waban from West Newton, as he called Chestnut street "impossible" from a traffic standpoint on account of its grade. He strongly urged the creation of a board of survey, which would have the whole city in mind and whose work would tend towards a street layout which would be of the greatest benefit to the community.

President Jones was in the chair and Aldermen Avery, Barker, Blakemore, Chadbourne, Cox, Doherty, Gray, Heard, Higgins, Lyons, Moore, Stone, Sullivan, Towle, Underwood, Williamson and Woods were also present.

No one appeared at hearings held on petitions to keep gasoline on Olive
G. Eager, Seminary avenue; C. L.
Tower, Myrtle avenue; Robert Chapman, Jr., Waltham street; George G.
Dunne, Washington street; F. H.
Franklin, Centre street; C. H. Milken, Prospect street; of the Edison Company for poles on Ruthven road, on the construction of concrete sidewalks, Lincoln street, and on taking land for sewers in Glenmore terrace, Harrington street and Pine Ridge road.

A hearing on laying out a portion of Floral street was postponed to June 6.

At the hearing on a sewer in Smith court, Mr. George M. Weed appeared in opposition, stating that the title to land in this court was now in litigation and asked that action be postponed until ownership was settled.

Alderman Cox urged the sewer as it was near the Franklin School and was badly needed.

At the hearing on the proposed Board of Survey, these arguments were presented.

Ex-Mayor George Hutchinson: My purpose in being present this evening is to speak in rather a general way in favor of this Board of Survey. I am especially interested because I did not favor the establishment of such a board when it was first presented and it was only after careful study that I was convinced that it was a good thing. I feared that it might be something of an injustice to property owners. I am convinced that ultimately it would not be, for it seems to me that we would finally have a very comprehensive plan which would be valuable. I remember when several of us from West Newton assembled in this room with the desire that there should be a street running across West Newton Hill so that it might be possible to go from Temple street to Hillside avenue. I believe that condition would have existed if we had a Board of Survey. I know where a terrace was run in and came to a dead end, and it never seemed possible to continue to get a general agreement between the citizen and the city government and I believe the whole thing was blocked.
It seems to me that it is up to you to discuss this bill in detail. I think there are possibly some modifications before the appointment of a board and the adoption of the methods to be employed. I believe that it should not be made up entirely of city officials. I think there should be some representatives of our citizens upon that board. What we are after finally is convenience and saving of time, and the beauty of our city of which we are all so very proud. I think there are questions of sanitation, systems of drainage, etc., which should all be considered. I think there is no doubt but with this board we would get an actual increase in valuation. I do not speak entirely upon the standpoint of the city, but I believe that we should get an actual increase in valuation for the individual property owners. This plan has been suggested by Mr. Rogers' predecessors, but finally worked out by him and it would be of benefit.

Ex-Mayor H. E. Bothfield: I would like to say a few words because it meets with my approval. My own experience is altogether in real estate, building streets and houses, and I have two illustrations right here in the city as to the correct way and the wrong way. One of the propositions I handled was the development of a portion of Hunnewell Hill. Efforts were made to get the co-operation of all the land owners to give up some of their land to make connections with existing streets, but we were not successful. I refer particularly to the building of Breemore road, Oakleigh road and Grasmere street, all of which ought to have been connected with the easterly end of Hunnewell terrace, but caused to come to a dead end. Now opposed to that I should like to bring to your attention the development of Parlow Hill. The streets there were laid out not only to conform with the contour of the hill but in order to secure a systematic development of that section. The streets running east were so designed that there are portions following along to existing thoroughfares still further east and we have been obliged to bring one of our roads to a dead end because an owner to the east would not come to terms and we have blocked his development at present. I am very heartily in favor of the board.

Mr. A. D. Claffin: I am very much interested in real estate, and control a large amount of property which is undeveloped. This bill as now drawn, it seems to me, places a very dangerous power in the hands of a Board of Survey. The powers given to the board are very broad. Some years ago there was an attempt made to have a Board of Survey in Newton and I would like to ask if any one could tell if this bill is not practically the same as drawn at that time?

City Solicitor Slocum: As I remember it, there was much which was decidedly objectionable in the previous bill. It provided that the city could establish a building line, also a line on private property past which buildings could not be placed.
That led to the question of an inconvenience and I think that was the reason it was opposed.

Mr. Claffin: It seems to me that the bill requires much more explanation than has been given here. I do not thoroughly understand the provisions of this bill. I submitted a copy to my counsel and much of it was deemed by him to be very undesirable. This bill allows pains to be filed with the Board of Survey and these may be altered by the board, and after that the owner must develop on these lines. The work might be started and then for some reason they might find an entirely different situation and hold up the work. I agree with all that has been said and I believe that if the powers of this board were limited it might be a very valuable thing, but where it is given the power it is here it seems to me the bill is going too far and the powers are too great.

Ex-Mayor Hutchinson: I would like to refer to one or two matters that Mr. Claffin has mentioned. It seems to me that there would not likely be changes in the board, if the board is made up as it seems to me it probably would be of the city engineer, the street commissioner, the chairman of the Board of Assessors and perhaps representative citizens.
These heads of departments are not frequently changed. A Board of Survey must have power. There must be some safeguards, but if not legal, there is always resort to the courts. The question of reconsideration of any plan that would be made seems to me not unreasonable. It might be that the Board of Survey at first made a mistake. It would not be quite fair to let that mistake stand.

Mr. A. E. Alvord: In general I am in favor of this bill, but I came to see if I could hear any valid reasons against it. It seems to me that it might occur in Section three of this bill. Where the property owner might not care to have his property laid out plans might be made by the Board of Survey, and he might want to sell the property. It is a question of whether the board ought to have the right to make what would constitute an incumbrance on the property and if the owner attempted to sell it for some purpose this would be sort of a flaw in the title. And then, it seems to me, that this bill prevents him from obtaining public necessities. Now it is possible to have public necessities, like lights on streets which are not accepted. I am in favor of every street being laid by a Board of Survey on the initiative of the owner, but not on the initiative of the board.

Mr. Claffin: It seems to me that the board should not act until the matter has been more thoroughly gone into. Newton has lots of unimproved property as many a gentleman here knows, and it seems to me by putting a Board of Survey in control of our property, it would still further handicap real estate.

Mr. William Jenks: There is one thing that has not been spoken of,
and it seems to be the most important thing of all. Here is a man, Mr.
Smith, he owns an acre of land in Newton. This Board of Survey duly authorized goes into this acre of land and plans a street, and this street must be 50 feet wide according to the laws. This Board of Survey takes it arbitrarily under the right of eminent domain, and for this he receives no compensation unless he sues for trespass. He has no power to build. He loses the right of it and still it might be five or six years before there is anything done.
They have no power to reimburse him if they should change their minds and rescind their former actions.

Then again, it states that notice shall be published twice in the paper. The owner may be in another state, also that land may be mortgaged. You take away from a man all his rights and give them to a board. You take land 50 feet wide perhaps 10,000 square feet and lay out a street. Perhaps there is on this land a man's house where he has lived all his life. This will not do.

At the request of Alderman Blakemore, Representative Bothfield was asked to explain an order introduced by the alderman favoring the passage of a bill to regulate the smoke nuisance in the Metropolitan district.
Mr. Bothfield stated that the Metropolitan Affairs committee had favorably reported a bill urged by the Chamber of Commerce, and not opposed by the large public service corporations by which in four years it was hoped to abolish the nuisance now caused by smoke. The bill provided for different classes of smoke stacks and allowed a gradual diminishing amount of smoke from each class each year for four years. At Mr. Bothfield's request, Newton had been added to the cities included in the bill and he believed it would aid the work for the bill if the Newton city government would favor it. The bill, he said, was not drastic, and it would involve no more financial burden to include Newton within its scope. Mr. Bothfeld also said that the two methods of remedying the smoke were some mechanical device, which if installed could work in Newton as well as in Boston, and by proper stoking, and which he believed should be done in Newton if required in other places. In reply to questions by Alderman Doherty, Mr. Bothfeld said that a delay of two weeks would not matter and the order was accordingly referred.

On recommendation of committees, Margaret F. Haynes was granted $8 a month soldiers' relief, street sprinkling was ordered on Prospect street, Cherry street, Braeland avenue, Suffolk road and California street, water mains ordered in Glenmore terrace, Boylston street and The Ledges road, hearings ordered for widening Chestnut street, for taking land for sewer in Evergreen avenue and Oakland avenue, making provision for payment of $559.33 interest on school and city loans, granting Edison Company pole locations on Cherry street, and the Telephone Company attachments on Waban avenue and Gardner street, F. A. Day, permission to reduce fall of sewer connection for proposed Y. M. C. A. building on Church street, granting Peter A. Carroll common victualler license, Donald McAllister a minor's license, O. Webster a sixth class liquor license, and G. W. Dunleavy a transfer of a pool table to High street.

Leave to withdraw was also granted Alex Lupo on petition to move building from Church street to Clinton street, Antonio Carcha for street musician license, Edison Company for poles on Arlington street, and on Hammond street, and of the Telephone Company for poles on Hammond street Waverley avenue and Arlington street.

Orders for $4000 for sidewalks, etc. at Technical High School, for issue of $60,000 sewer bonds, and for purchase of land adjoining highway stable on Crafts street were referred.

Alderman Gray called attention to the statute requiring a fee for gasoline license and this matter together with a proposed revision of regulations governing the moving of buildings were referred.

On account of a long recess for committee meetings, it was 11.10 before adjournment was reached.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

A feature of the annual meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs which is always of interest is the report from each club and a fact that impressed itself upon the Club Editor as she listened to them on Tuesday was the age that so many of them have attained. Upon consulting the State Federation manual she finds that of the clubs which belong to both federations the West Newton Women's Educational was organized in 1880, thus having just completed thirty years of work, the Newtonville Guild followed in 1884, the Social Science and the Monday Club in 1886, the Newton Centre Woman's in 1887, the Home Circle in 1888, and the Review Club in 1891. Even the Waban Woman's Club, which has seemed to be one of the younger clubs of the city, will celebrate its fifteenth anniversary next year.

Should a life history of each be written it would show much good literary, educational and philanthropic work and the gradual evolution of what were originally simply study clubs into those of broader outlook, while they are at the same time relinquishing none of what was best in their original purposes. So it is with a feeling of satisfaction that the Club Editor reviews the year of 1909—1910 and is assured that it has been well spent. If one can judge a movement by its results, then the women's clubs of Newton fully justify their existence.

The Newton Mothers' Club will hold its annual meeting on Monday May 9, at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Albert P. Carter of Highland avenue, Newtonville.

A visit to the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston had been arranged for the members of the Newton Highlands Monday Club for May 9. It has been necessary to postpone this visit and the date will be announced later.

At the meeting of the executive board of the Massachusetts State Federation on Thursday of last week it was voted to hold the annual meeting of the Federation at Lynn on June 6 and 7. The official notices will go out this week and the program and necessary details will be announced in the Graphic in ample season to enable Newton women to make arrangements to attend.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Newton Federation Executive Board will be held at the New Church parlors on May 16, at 10.15 A. M. It has been arranged to have the new school nurse present to tell of the work she is doing in the Newton schools.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club held its closing meeting of the season. Committees of the new year were announced and confirmed and other matters of business transacted.

Following this the members listened to a delightful description of "Home Life in China" given by Mrs. J. C. Ferguson, who has lived many years in that country. Mrs. Ferguson, who is a member of the club, took as the outline of her talk the various divisions of the topic, "The Domestic Plant" which the club has been studying this season and contrasted conditions there with those in this country, describing the houses and their furnishings, the food and clothing and many of the details of home life and customs of the people. She spoke of the absolute lack of hygienic conditions. She mentioned a fact that is little known in this country, that the Chinese families are really bound together by affection, notwithstanding the fact that the bride and groom have usually never seen each other before their marriage. She stated, however, that the Western customs are gradually having their influence there and that she had been known of their being public wedding ceremonies as in this country.

Among the things which Americans would feel in living in China is the lack of privacy, for few families have homes to themselves, since the bride upon marriage takes up her home in her husband's family, and then there are often dependent persons, or several houses open upon one courtyard, so that there is scarcely ever such a thing as a secret in China. Lack of quiet is another thing that would be noticed. The Chinese live more or less in a noise all the time, they speak loudly, the children are brought up to study aloud, and seldom does an official set out anywhere unless attended by the firing of crackers.

A custom which seems very strange is that of the sons' presenting to their parents two coffins in which they are to be buried. To them it betokens love and forethought and a care for them which they esteem highly.

Of the changing social customs Mrs. Ferguson mentioned that foot-binding is fast going out, that the government is prohibiting opium smoking, and the changes in modes of travel. She referred particularly to the government schools for girls as being well equipped and that they are becoming a strong point in the nation. A school in Canton to teach girls to train children and how to care for them was mentioned among others.

After the talk Chinese tea was served in small Chinese cups with the lichi nuts and Chinese candy. The rooms were decorated with panels and other articles from that country and many interesting things were exhibited. This departure from the usual custom was a delightful close to the year's work.

At the annual meeting of the Waban Woman's Club, held last Monday at the home of Mrs. Herbert R. Lane the following officers were elected for the ensuing club year: President, Mrs. Helen S. Andrews; vice-president, Mrs. Isabelle Parker; recording secretary, Mrs. Susan D. Arnold; secretary, Mrs. Sarah B. Ambrose; treasurer, Mrs. Alice Isola; new director, Mrs. Blanche E. Dow; chairman entertainment committee, Mrs. Mabel Piser; press correspondent, Mrs. Lucille Z. Sawyer; State Federation delegate, Mrs. Alice Congdon; Newton Federation delegates, Mrs. Minnie Burnett, Mrs. Edith Virtue; members of Newton Federation Committees: nominating, Mrs. Frances Gould; social, Mrs. Alice N. Fisher; Social Service, Mrs. Susan R. Bartlett; Education, Mrs. Emma G. Angler.

Mrs. Piser, accompanied by Mrs. Zeiss, rendered several selections upon the violin in her usual finished style, while Mrs. LeClear sang very acceptably two contralto solos.

Tea and a social hour brought this very successful club year to a close.

Mrs. Bernard Billings entertained the Pierian Club on Wednesday afternoon. After the business session the club enjoyed piano solos by Miss Dyson and Miss Tambo, vocal selections by Mrs. Cooper and readings by Miss Agnes Newey.

On Tuesday morning, May 3rd, the members of the Newton Federation met at the Congregational Church, Newtonville, for the annual meeting. The morning was occupied with routine business, reports of officers and of the presidents of the clubs and the election of officers. Upon the recommendation of the Education committee it was voted that the Federation present to the library of the new technical high school a biographical dictionary to cost about $80 and to the classical high school a hygienic drinking fountain. The chairman of the Education committee in addition to the above recommendations reported on the meeting held by the Federation at the technical high school and stated that the work of the committee had been hampered owing to the removal from the city of the original chairman. The report of the Social Service committee will be given below in detail.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. John H. Pillsbury of the Waban Woman's Club; vice-presidents, Mrs. G. H. Wilkins of the Newtonville Woman's Guild, Mrs. F. E. Anderson of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Mrs. W. M. Mick of the Shakespeare Club; recording secretary, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre of the Social Science Club; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe of the West Newton Educational Club; treasurer, Miss Lilla A. Rider of the Review Club; auditor, Mrs. E. C. Cooper of the Pierian Club.

Mrs. Pillsbury thanked the members for her re-election, expressed what the office had done for her personally, mentioned matters which she hoped the Federation could accomplish and named co-operation and service as the watchwords of the coming year.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock under the direction of the Social committee, Mrs. C. J. Bartlett, chairman. The tables were attractive with their decorations of tulips and the viands appetizing. The social side is a feature that should not be discounted and the sitting down at table together of the club women from all sides of the city is of value of itself in strengthening and unifying this scattered community.

The program of the afternoon was in a lighter vein than has been usual of late and attracted a large number of women, the vestry being crowded to the limit of its capacity. Mrs. E. C. Cooper of the Pierian club rendered a group of three French songs in a most charming style. This was followed by a sketch of Moliere's life by Mrs. Edward Almy and an outline of his play, "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," by Mrs. William Fuller. After this Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Almy, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Pickard and Mrs. Gore, all members of the Review Club, read scenes from the play which brought out the character of Monsieur Jourdain in all his absurdity, this being the part which Moliere himself always played. While the ladies made no pretense at a finished performance and the costumes were extremely simple, all entered with spirit into their parts and it was greatly enjoyed by those present. Special mention should be made of Mrs. Fuller in her interpretation of Monsieur Jourdain, the man who had been talking prose all his life and didn't know it. The violin selections by Miss Julia Pickard, accompanied by Mrs. Freeman, added much to the program. Among them was a minuet of the seventeenth century composed especially for the play. The program closed with a minuet given by four of those who had taken part.

MINSTREL SHOW.

An artistic and well attended minstrel and vaudeville show was given by the Young People's League in the New Church parlors last Wednesday evening. For the minstrel show the interlocutor was Mr. Richard B. Carter; end men, Messrs. Clinton Willey and Robert Boyden; chorus, the Misses Alice Sampson, Constance Frisbie, Miriam Kimball, Rosalind Kempton, Ethel Sampson, Mildred Sargent and Messrs. Philip W. Carter, Kenneth Kempton, John W. Merrill, Lawrence Mayo, Raymond Carter and W. H. Roope. Miss Miriam A. Niver was pianist. Part second consisted of a reading by Miss Helen Kempton, a comedy dance, "A Bit of Old Holland," Miss Mildred Adhame as the Dutch boy and Miss Miriam Kimball as the Dutch girl; violin solo, Miss Gertrude Bellows; a group of clever dances by the Misses Adams and Kimball, and songs by the Harvard Glee Club Quartet, Messrs. Alan M. Osgood, Edward Johnson, Frank R. Hancock and Sanger B. Steele. The third part of the program was the presentation of the one-act farce, "A Picked Up Dinner," the character parts being taken by Mr. Philip W. Carter, Miss Constance Frisbie and Miss Alice Sampson. Light refreshments and dancing followed.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER.

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., held its regular meeting at the Newton Club, Newtonville, on Friday, May 6, 1910. The business meeting was followed by a social hour. We were favored in having with us Mrs. Clapp, regent of the General Rufus Putnam Chapter of Dorchester, who gave us a fine paper upon "Dolly Madison." Music was furnished by a ladies trio, consisting of violin, cello and piano.

The executive board were the hostesses. Mrs. G. W. Priest, Mrs. A. M. Ferris, Mrs. A. S. Hutchinson, Mrs. J. H. Sanborn, Mrs. F. E. Smith, Mrs. C. O. Tucker, Mrs. E. P. Tuttle, Mrs. D. F. Barber, Mrs. Francis Murdoch, Mrs. T. R. Mason, Miss Elizabeth Fuller, Mrs. J. H. Green, Mrs. V. M. Bowen, Mrs. D. W. Reid, Mrs. Thomas M. Elwell.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Robblee of Charlesbank road by the Sawdust Club on Tuesday evening of last week. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Soule, followed by speeches from Mr. William Gorman and Mr. Walter McPherson, dancing by Mr. Cain, readings by Mrs. Fewster and vocal selections by the Sawdust Quartet. One of the main features of the evening was the initiating of one new member, he being a popular young man of Natick.

LADIES' NIGHT.

The annual ladies' night of the Newton Universalist Men's Club was held Monday evening in the parish house of the Universalist Church. About one hundred were present and after discussing a satisfactory menu enjoyed a splendid program of music and readings by the Appleton Ladies' Quartet, assisted by Irene Bewley, reader. These officers were elected: President, Mr. Louis E. G. Green; vice-president, Mr. H. Stewart Bosson; secretary, Mr. Harry D. Cabot; assistant secretary, Mr. Frank M. Grant; treasurer, Mr. John W. L. Cram.

RECEPTION

On Saturday afternoon last the Newton Home for Aged People held its annual reception at the home in Newton Upper Falls. There was a large gathering of ladies and gentlemen interested in the Home, and it is pleasant to note that there was quite an unusual number of the latter.

Beautiful flowers were in every room, thanks to the kindness of Mrs. Frank A. Day and Mrs. Charles E. Riley, and the ladies were in a happy mood, as they consider this their own annual party.

All the rooms presented a very cozy and comfortable appearance, with their quaint furniture, all the little heirlooms, photographs and odds and ends each occupant is so fond of, and in this way the rooms are made to look very homelike, and their occupants very happy.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by ladies from the various Newtons.

Visitors who had never been to the Home before were surprised and delighted, and were much impressed by the possibilities of such a Home.

Services are held regularly on Sunday afternoons, and are in charge of Mrs. George Hutchinson. No fewer than 18 of our ministers have kindly given their services during the past year. Last Sunday the Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, assisted by his wife and daughter, conducted the services. Music is provided in this way and by parts of our church choirs.

At present all the ladies of the Home are deeply interested and quite busy making articles for the annual June sale.

Miss Berenice M. Allen, the matron, deserves the gratitude of all for her kindness, tact and ability in managing the Home, and is in her element in this good work.

Among those present were the president, Charles E. Riley; the vice-president, Joseph Byers, who gives generously of his time to this work; the treasurer, Albert P. Carter, and most of the directors.

It is hoped that before long the financial affairs will be in such shape as to allow of building an extension, which has been contemplated for several years.

The Home is full, every room being occupied, and there is quite a long waiting list. The Home is supported chiefly by the income from the Stone estate, and also by subscriptions from residents of the city. The annual appeal is now being sent out.

Contributions of money may be sent to Mr. Albert P. Carter, 104 Highland avenue, Newtonville, and all sums, no matter how small, will be welcome.

Articles, fruit, flowers, etc., should be sent direct to the Home, care of the matron.

Satisfaction, contentment and gratification are three gradations of joy experienced by every user of a steam or hot water heater. If you are contemplating heating your dwelling, write Smith & Thayer Co., 236 Congress street, Boston, Mass.

MUSICAL

One of the most delightful musicals given this season was that held at the residence of Mrs. William H. Cotton on Cabot street, Newtonville, on Saturday evening, when Madame Wilhelmina Wright Calvert, soprano, and Signor Francesco Manetti, tenor, both of Boston, were heard in a very pleasing program. Madame Calvert has a voice of rare beauty and sweetness and is a thorough artist. Her pure, rich tones poured so naturally and so easily from her lips that it was a delight to her audience to hear her sing. Signor Manetti is a newcomer to this vicinity, and is possessed with a voice of wonderful power and sweetness. He produces his full, rich tones, which are not unlike those of Constantino, with marvellous skill, and he won the enthusiasm of his audience from the beginning. One special feature of the evening's program was the duet, "Misereere," from Il Trovatore, which was handled most artistically and effectively by the two artists.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton, held its annual meeting Monday, May 9, at the Newton Club house, Mrs. Charles E. Hatfield, Mrs. Isaac F. Kingsbury, Mrs. George R. Pulsifer, Mrs. Franklin N. Thatcher, Mrs. S. Homer Woodbridge, being the hostesses.

After listening to Scotch songs beautifully sung by Miss Young, the annual reports of the officers were given. In the regent's report she spoke of the generous contributions by the chapter toward the column and bronze doors which Massachusetts gave to Continental Memorial Hall, and the scholarship to Miss Perry's School at Rome, Ga., as well as the tablets and stone just placed in Newton Centre to mark the birthplace of Roger Sherman.

Mrs. Friend gave a very entertaining and graphic account of the Continental Congress which she attended at Washington, reporting women from every country, even China, and that the membership has increased to 79,700.

The chairman of the nominating committee, Miss Fanny Allen, gave her report, and the following board of management was unanimously elected: Regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend; vice-regents, Mrs. G. H. Wilkins and Mrs. Charles E. Hatfield; recording secretary, Mrs. Francis Newhall; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frederick Lowe; registrar, Mrs. Frank W. Pray; historian, Mrs. Charles D. Meserve; directors, Mrs. Charles Leonard, Mrs. William Lucas, Mrs. S. L. Woodbridge, Miss Lucy E. Allen, Mrs. H. P. Converse, Mrs. Austin Sherman, Mrs. John Damon, Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt.

After enjoying a social hour in the dining room the members dispersed to meet again in the fall.

GIVEN FOB

The principals and members of the chorus of the recent Dalhousie minstrel show were entertained last week Wednesday at dinner at the Boston City Club, covers being laid for 30. The proceedings were quite informal and in charge of Mr. H. Stewart Bosson and Mr. Fred M. Blanchard. An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of a watch fob to Mr. Bosson in recognition of his work as manager of the entertainment. As a result of this meeting a Masonic Glee Club will be organized.

BAKER—LOPAUS.

Friday afternoon, May 6, at 1:30, Mr. Charles E. Baker, Jr., of Melrose and Miss Mollie G. Lopus of Newton Highlands were married at 24 Dickerman road, Eliot, the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Beal. The immediate families and a few friends were present. Rev. E. Victor Bigelow of the Eliot Congregational Church, Lowell, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Beal was matron of honor, and Mr. Robert Stewart of Belmont was best man. The bride was given away by her father, Captain Roscoe G. Lopus.

Mr. Baker studied two years at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and since then has been working mainly with the Charles River Basin Commission and the Eastern Dredging Company. At present he is superintending for the latter company the widening of the Penobscot River at Bangor. The bride is a graduate of the Massachusetts Normal Art School, class of 1908. Mr. and Mrs. Baker will reside for the present in Bangor.

DEMAND REMOVAL.

Charging waste, extravagance and favoritism in the award of contracts, malfeasance and misfeasance, a committee of 35 residents of Middlesex county, Saturday, demanded the resignation from office of the Middlesex County Commissioners, the sheriff and other officials. The officials against whom the charges of the committee are leveled are Levi S. Gould, Charles H. Richardson, Chester B. Williams, commissioners; Sheriff John R. Fairbairn, Harry E. Shaw, keeper of the Lowell jail, and Deputy Sheriff William H. Walsh.

A formal recital of the charges was made to Attorney-General Dana Malone, who agreed to give a hearing to the committee of citizens at which they are to present the evidence upon which their charges are based.

The charges were presented by Attorney Archibald M. Howe of Cambridge, who spoke for the Cambridge Tax Payers' Association and the committee; Attorney Arthur Brooks, who spoke in behalf of the Civil Service Reform League and the committee; Attorney Jackson Palmer of Wellesley and Attorney Philip R. Dunbar, for the committee.

HORNBROOKE MEMORIAL

FINE BUST UNVEILED AT CHANNING CHURCH

The main auditorium of Channing Church was well filled Saturday afternoon with an audience composed not alone of citizens of Newton and members of the congregation, but of many former friends of Dr. Hornbrooke, some coming from a distance to attend the service of the unveiling and presentation of the memorial to the church, which was made possible through a fund raised by subscription. The ushers were Dr. F. W. Webber, and Messrs. C. A. Clarke, Howard Coffin, L. E. Coffin, A. R. Bailey, F. H. Burt, R. D. Holt and A. W. B. Huff. Mr. Henry T. Wade opened the service with Henry M. Dunham's "In Memoriam," as an organ prelude. Rev. Julian C. Jaynes pronounced the invocation and after the congregational hymn, "For All the Saints," Rev. Mr. Jaynes read the Scriptures. Mr. George H. Remele rendered a bass solo, "How Beautifully Rendered the Feet of Them that Preach the Gospel of Peace," from the Messiah, and Rev. Andrew Hahn offered the prayer. Rev. James De Normandie, D. D., gave the tribute and at its completion walked up the aisle with the pastor, Rev. Harry Lutz, and drew the draped American flag from the bust, after a few eloquent words of appreciation.

The exercises closed with a bass solo by Mr. Remele, "The Years at the Spring," from Robert Browning; a hymn, "The While I Listened Came a Word," composed by Phillips Brooks; the benediction by Rev. Mr. Lutz, and as a postlude Mr. Wade played Lemmens' "March Triumphant." Mr. Cyrus E. Dallin's conception, taken partly from recollections of an early acquaintance with Dr. Hornbrooke, is of finely executed white marble, life size, the shoulders draped in ministerial robes and his left hand is holding an open book. It rests upon a cherry pedestal, between the main entrances, directly under the memorial window to William E. Channing, so that the inscription, "I believed, therefore I have spoken," serves for both window and bust. Carved in front of the pedestal is the inscription, "Francis B. Hornbrooke, D. D., born May 7, 1849, died Dec. 5, 1903. Minister of this church 1879-1900."

The committee through whose efforts the memorial was made possible was composed of Mrs. Charles A. Drew, Miss Susanna E. Hahn, Mr. Oliver M. Fisher, treasurer; Miss Helen L. Wells, chairman.

Rev. Dr. De Normandie.

Dr. De Normandie's tribute was as follows:

It seems to be an impulse of the human heart, attested by all the records of man, to set up some memorials where events of large significance have occurred, or to those who have played an important part in those events.

Still more is the impulse felt when, in our own circle, those who have been helpful to us, or dear to us

Colonial Theatre—At the Colonial Theatre Robert Edeson has successfully started on what gives every indication of being the most popular and profitable engagement he has yet played in this city, his new play, "Where the Trail Divides," written by the actor for his own use, having been hailed as an even stronger vehicle than "Strongheart."

In addition to marking Mr. Edeson's debut as a dramatist, "Where the Trail Divides" also brings him forward again in the portrayal of an Indian role and his characterization is easily the best work he has yet done.

Mr. Edeson has brought to Boston one of the most beautiful scenic productions of recent years and the cast provided by Manager Henry B. Harris for the star's support includes the following well-known players: Menifee Johnson, Rose Tapley, George W. Barnum, Cordelia MacDonald, Joseph Rawley, John Prescott, Frederick Watson, Charles Reigel, James Gordon, James Grady and Edward Wade.

During the engagement of "Where the Trail Divides" at the Colonial Theatre there will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Mr. C. L. Kirschner, master of the Technical High School, has just completed an interesting canvass to show the magazine reading of the pupils in that school, the following figures showing the number who read regularly or frequently the various magazines:

Youth's Companion	90
Ladies' Home Journal	80
Saturday Evening Post	54
Outlook	51
Scientific American	48
American Boy	46
Everybody's	44
Harper's Monthly	42

Modern Electricity	20
Judge	19
Outing	19
Century	16
Cosmopolitan	16
Review of Reviews	15
Good Housekeeping	15
Technical World, American Magazine, Literary Digest, each	10

Twenty-six magazines are reported, read by more than one and less than 10 pupils, and 10 magazines are read by one each. Sixty-three periodicals are reported as read by one or more pupils.

Forty-five per cent. report that they do their magazine reading at home and 20 per cent. at school or at branch libraries. Only 16 pupils state that they do not care for magazine reading.

N. H. S.

Rindge M. T. S. of Cambridge had a batting carnival on Clifton Field Tuesday afternoon and defeated Newton High, 13 to 2. Seth Wood, the crack Newton pitcher, lasted only two innings, seven runners crossing the plate during his stay.

Rindge did not experience much trouble in hitting Gaw, who succeeded Wood, scoring six runs off him. Rindge made 14 hits for a total of 15 bases. Captain Metivier leading with four hits.

Newton's playing was poor and 10 errors were made behind Wood and Gaw, many of which figured in the run-making.

In the fifth an unusual mistake was made. Newton went to bat last in the inning, and several balls had been pitched before it was discovered that only two Rindge men had been put out, so Newton had to take the field again.

LODGES.

Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar, attended an Ascension Day service at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, last Sunday morning. Rev. John Matteson preached the sermon and the musical program consisted of a solo by Mr. Randall and the regular service by the vested choir. About 70 knights attended, going to Auburndale in two special cars from Newtonville square.

Garden City Lodge, Independent Companions of America, held a character party at Newton Lower Falls Thursday night of last week at which about 150 were present. Some very pretty costumes were worn, honors being won by Miss Mary Young of Waban and Mrs. H. R. Robblee of Charlesbank road, Newton. Dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock.

POLICE NOTES.

Albert H. Fish, 40 years old, who claims New York as his home, was arrested Tuesday afternoon in the Chestnut Hill section by Patrolman Henry Marlner. The man was making a house-to-house canvass, handing out cards bearing the name of Rev. J. A. Hall, and soliciting subscriptions for a home for crippled children in Roxbury.

When arrested he at first denied that he was doing wrong, but later admitted, the police say, that he had obtained considerable money by using the clergyman's name. He had $40 in his pocket when arrested.

Fish admitted that he had worked the game successfully in at least 10 other places near Boston. He has a wife and five children in New York and at one time studied for the ministry, although he never held a pastorate.

You are likely to want your hammock earlier this season than usual.

Do you need a new one?

Remember that our line is at least the equal of what you will find anywhere,—including the "Gloucester" style.

The regular woven kind we sell at prices varying from $1.50 to $3.00. Gloucesters cost a little more, but they are well worth their price.

Combination Coal and Gas

Crawford Ranges

The Crawford Gas Ovens are safe. They are lighted in a new way; there is no dangerous pilot light and explosions are impossible. This improvement is patented and very important.

The Damper is automatically opened by opening oven door to light the burners, which cannot be lighted until the door is opened.

In these Gas Ovens there is an extra set of burners at the top for broiling; a great advantage over the ordinary gas oven, insuring better broiling and great convenience.

The Oven Bottoms and Racks are cast iron, and the outer walls are triple—an interlining of asbestos between two sheets of iron, which assists to retain the heat.

The use of these Gas Ovens does not interfere in any way with the operation of the coal range—both can be used at the same time.

Double Oven above or Single Oven at end of range. Circulars Free.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The Federation Bulletin for May appears in a new and enlarged form, having been combined with "The Conquest," a magazine of similar interest published at Troy, N. Y., and will hereafter be known as "The Conquest and the Federation Bulletin." The Bulletin office will be continued at Trinity Court, Boston, and all official matter both of the General Federation and of the State Federation should be sent there as heretofore, the typographical work and mailing only being done at Troy. All subscriptions should be sent to C. W. Hall, 416 Fear Building, Troy, N. Y.

The editors feel that they have made an advantageous change and that they will be able to serve their readers better than ever before.

This month's number contains the Biennial program and many portraits of General Federation officers and some account of them. Among the articles worth reading is one on "Weights and Measures," by Fritz Reichman, Ph. D., state superintendent of weights and measures, which points out many ways which dealers take to defraud the public of their just amounts. He calls attention to the fact that the United States is the only civilized country which has not taken up the matter of weights and measures. At his time of writing, legislation in this matter was before New York state. Editorial comments state that the bills have now been passed by both branches and only await the Governor's signature.

One of the clubs of the city that goes quietly on its work and says very little during the year about what it is doing is the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club. In connection with its study of the great dramatist the club has presented the Newton Library for the shelves of the Newton Highlands reading room with the following books: "Characters of Shakespeare's Plays," by William Hazlett; "Essays and Lectures of Shakespeare," by Samuel Coleridge; "William Shakespeare—Poet, Dramatist and Man," by Hamilton Wright Mabie, and "Shakespeare's Commentaries," by Prof. G. G. Gervinus.

At its guest day about 75 persons had the pleasure of listening to a lecture by Professor E. Charlton Black on "Shakespeare's Comic Plays and Characters."

The annual meeting of the club was held on May 7 and at that time these officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Edgar J. Smith; vice-president, Miss Emma G. Stevens; secretary, Miss Marian E. White; treasurer, Miss Edith M. McCann; auditor, Mrs. Charles H. Keeler; executive board, Mrs. F. C. Snow, Mrs. A. C. M. Moir, Miss Alberta J. Crombie.

MORTGAGESLOANS AT FAIR RATES ON NEWTON REAL ESTATEWEST NEWTON SAVINGS BANK

HOURS, 8.30 TO 12 AND 1 TO 3

SATURDAY, 8.30 TO 12

INCREASED FARES.

The increase of fares on the Boston & Albany railroad which goes into effect on June 1 does not affect the fares on the Newton Circuit where the rates remain as at present. An official statement from the railroad issued on May 4 is as follows:

"The expected advance in passenger fares on the Boston & Albany railroad, due to the increase in the cost of material and increase in wages, and the consequent increase in the cost of operation, has been announced and will take effect June 1. In 1906 there was a voluntary reduction in passenger fares from a basis of 2-1-4 cents a mile to 2 cents a mile. So that the schedule to go into effect June 1 is substantially a restoration of the old basis which existed prior to the reduction in 1906. The new schedule of tariffs has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. The increase to go into effect June 1 applies only to local business.

Boston Opera House—The sixth week of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company's remarkable run at the Boston Opera House, starting next Monday night, May 16, will bring the first offering from the pen of Giacomo Puccini to the Aborn repertory. "Madam Butterfly," being scheduled for the usual eight performances including Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Puccini, through his numerous compositions, all brought forth within a comparatively few years back, has performed the feat of winning both the high esteem of the critical, and the favor of the great mass of unschooled music lovers. "Madam Butterfly," produced for the first time in 1904, is generally considered his masterpiece up to this date, and is particularly popular in this country, where it has the distinction of being the only grand opera that has been presented as a single offering, without any accompanying repertory, but as a regular attraction all over the United States. Messrs. Aborn have already established a high standard of staging, from the pictorial standpoint, and the production of costumes and scenery being prepared for their presentation of "Madam Butterfly" is no exception to the rule.

by the closest ties, pass to higher service. We want to tell the story of our gratitude or affection when our voice is silent. We want other generations to know of those whose bravery or sacrifice, or noble nature made our life triumphant. He would be a strange man indeed, it has been said, who could not have his patriotism aroused by a visit to the plain of Marathon.

So the places where famous battles have been fought, which have changed the world's history—where we ponder now things might have been in nations for ages, had the result been different—places where heroes and saints have lived and which are fragrant with their deeds and prayers; where poets have written epics, and artists have ministered to the love of beauty—are very dear to all hearts. The monuments which are set up to commemorate these are not mere silent appeals to every passer-by, but they seem to be endowed with an eloquence and an inspiration beyond the power of human lips.

This is especially true of all the memorials of worship. The sanctuaries where generation after generation man has expressed and renewed his faith, are hallowed by an increasing line of pilgrims. The tombs where the ashes of our loved ones rest; the stones which faintly express how much of love went by that narrow way—all these things have been and have been conservative of better things than we can ever express. We go all over the world to stand by the monuments religion has raised. The pyramids of sepulture of the ancient Egyptians; the unequalled beauty of the temples of the most reverent Greeks; the open cromlechs of the nature-loving Druids; the whole surface of Palestine; the water of the Jordan, which may have gone its eternal round a thousand times since it was touched by the feet of Jesus, but which superstition or reverence still thinks as of some special grace in baptism; the cathedrals which Christianity has raised—all these are held in tender care, and the worship of today has a holier glow as it bows where hearts of old had the same story and the same needs.

The Greeks had their sacred way—leading from the gateway to Eleusis—from the gardens and porches of the philosophers and poets and winners in the games, to the seats of the great mysteries of worship. It issued forth out of the grandest gate of the city, passed along the cemetery, where the monuments were, and where it was customary to pronounce the funeral orations over those who had fallen in defence of their country; it continued over the hills and along a most beautiful road for four miles lined with statues and monuments to the heroes, the poets, the philosophers and the artists who made that land immortal—and ended in the grand temple where were the Eleusinian mysteries, which have been largely engrafted into our own religion.

Along this Sacred Way, year after year, processions marched to revive the memories of the past and to pledge themselves to equal patriotism, an equal philosophy, an equal devotion to the true, the beautiful and the good.

Well is it for us, too, when we shall have fitting memorials for those who have given their lives for us; who have left words and deeds to inspire us to a like duty and humanity; and examples of service for everything which adorns and uplifts mankind.

Still better for us all, when the procession which begins in the triumphs of war passes by the porches and gardens of philosophy, of literature and art, and ends in the temple of God.

It gives to one a strong sense of unfitness, a constant accusation, as it were, against our religion which began with the angel-song of peace and good will, as if we openly departed from its highest lesson—that the vast majority of all the memorials which we find in the cathedrals and squares and parks abroad, are to those who were engaged in war. You go through St. Paul's or Westminster Abbey—excepting the poet's corner, and it seems as if the glory of England consisted almost entirely in those who had died in fighting her battles for conquering or making tributary foreign lands. I do not forget the courage and the self-denial, and the hardships which many have triumphantly in war; one has to acknowledge it has been the chief employment of nations, and with a feeling almost of despair that it is the chief employment of all so-called Christian nations today. They are all preparing for it to a degree which is simply impoverishing the world. But peace, and literature, and religion have their heroes, too. Without any of the pomp and pageantry, and martial music of the soldiers, far more heroism is shown every day by the men in our life-saving stations, and our fire departments, than on the battle field. The students of medicine as a rule when they face any awful disease, single and alone, as they are so ready to do, are far greater heroes than most soldiers—and science and missions also have their heroes. I am glad and willing to have a land provide most liberally for all those who have suffered in the defence of their country—but when we ask twenty or thirty years of tollsome service as the condition of pensions for the heroes of peace, to offer or accept them simply because one has enlisted, or who has never suffered nor toiled, and that from generation to generation is a disgrace for any American citizen, and degrades patriotism to the vilest pursuit of the demagogue.

More and more let us erect our memorials to those who have helped to elevate and not to destroy.

Turning now from the general lesson of memorials—the loving remembrance of this parish for its gifted minister, my friend, Dr. Hornbrooke, which has brought us to this commemorative service and expressed itself in this memorial about to be unveiled; although still fresh in our memory is the day we were startled by his sudden death and the time we gathered here six years ago to pay our tribute to his life—you will permit me to speak of him again, as a friend whose loss I feel more and more, and whose gifts grow only more attractive as his voice fades into the silence of the swiftly added years.

And I speak not only as a friend to friends and for this parish which bore to him such unwavering loyalty, but I speak too for my summer church at Lincoln where for so many years he was the welcomed and admired preacher.

One summer I had occasion to go to New York to meet Dr. Hornbrooke returning from Europe, and finding the steamer was not to come to the wharf until four or five o'clock in the morning I sent for a bright messenger boy, and said: "I want you to go to the gate which the passengers from the St. Paul have to pass through and watch for a gentleman whom I trust you to distinguish from all the rest, and give him my card." With but a few words of personal description I sent him off. He returned with a most satisfied countenance. "They had nearly all got out but I struck him first time." It was not surprising that he did it, even among a thousand; but marked as that personality was it did not so much arrest or enchain the multitude at first as it held individuals in the seclusion of the fireside and the study, a personality with fine perceptions, richly furnished with the treasures of thought and culture, and an attractive way of presenting them, which made good that fine proverb of old—that a "faithful friend is the medicine of life."

Of the attractiveness or the power of Dr. Hornbrooke's pulpit ministrations it is quite enough to recall that he was invited to be the successor of Dr. Bellows, one of the most eloquent and persuasive preachers we have had—that he refused it, is a fine testimony to his loyalty to you, after building under his lead this church, and your loyalty to him—but by the secret of that preaching it may be well for us to consider for a moment.

It was preaching, which kept in view that the value of the highest pulpit instruction is constant emphasis upon the few old and sublime doctrines of religion.

There is much talk today about practical preaching; that it must consist itself with the practical affairs of life. All these ministers I presume have the same experience that I have—constant appeals for a Sunday to be set apart for what they call practical subjects, because they say the pulpit is fast losing all its influence, and so regain it, it must take up practical subjects. They want a Sunday for child labor, a pension for the aged Sunday, one on the drink question, an anti-vice Sunday, a tuberculosis Sunday, a hospital Sunday, a single tax Sunday, a social justice Sunday, a Sunday for the tenement house problem as managed by wealthy churches, a woman suffrage Sunday, and half a dozen Sundays for different aspects of socialism, a firecracker Sunday for a sinner Fourth, an educational Sunday, and at the rate these appeals are being made there will soon not be one Sunday left in the week-year to be devoted to the serious spiritual realities—the real cure for all social ills.

Now the great fact in all these appeals is that under the plea of practical preaching the already too overwhelming spirit of commercialism is creeping into the church and degrading it from all its high religious standards, and only too frequently these appeals are made by persons who care little for the profound questions of religion, and are seeking the pulpit as an advertising board for their own pet interests. There is not one of these questions which has not its value in the public welfare. It is reason for rejoicing and thanksgiving that never were there so many men and women studying them with so much interest and consecration.

There is not one of them to which reference cannot be made with dignity and effect from the pulpit—but they are not the essential, spiritual truths for which the church and worship stand. Look at one of the most serious questions of our social life; one, the cause of a great deal of the most bitter feelings every day in families—the question of inheritance. Must we speak to my brother that he divide the inheritance with me? Was it for him to try and discover which brother had the larger or which brother was seeking the larger share—but "beware of covetousness" there is the lesson for both of you, and the only real remedy for your quarrel.

There is no preaching so interesting or helpful, so far-reaching, so transforming from utter worldliness; so sought after and needed today; so grateful to temper and perplexed lives, and so entirely practical as the constant reiteration with every possible illustration of the great doctrine of religion.

But the distinction is generally without any real basis. The truest and ablest presentation of spiritual principles is the most practical. Preaching one can have—for character must have a foundation, an authoritative guide, a daemon within—it cannot stand upon air, nor rest on a cloud. Religious truth is the root of religious character. Doctrinal preaching need not be dry or tedious; it may have all the beauty of ornament, imagination, poetry, eloquence; it may gather from every realm of nature, art, science, history, life, but it must preserve its reason for being its doctrine; truth, like the mountain chains of the continent, or every thing else will be as the shifting sands, or the sickle wind. By doctrinal preaching I mean the opposite of that style which deceives the ear by an exhibition of gilded wares for solid gold; and the heart by an excitement of the feelings without the restraining power of great principles—I mean the plainest and most positive statement of simple spiritual truths, varying in form and expression, but eternally the same in substance which have given to life in all ages; its power; its freshness; its stimulus; its enthusiasm for humanity; its fellowship with the Eternal; and just as preaching departs from this it is like a party without a platform; an army without a flag; a government without a constitution; a timepiece without a mainspring. Because some doctrines have been narrow, unscriptural, unreasonable, unsatisfying and false, having no more bearing upon practical life than the question about the constituent gases in the tail of Halley's comet; because salvation has been taught as a great mystery, and grace the warrant of immoral partiality, and the life and death of Jesus a means of exalting the Supreme Being from a dilemma, and revelation as an impenetrable spring, instead of a stream overflowing with the grace of God—is no reason why true and helpful and Christian and deeply spiritual doctrines, which have been the foundation of the religious life in all ages, should not be put in their place. The times of greatest religious interest and of most active personal righteousness through all our records have corresponded with the eras of earnest doctrinal preaching. Every great revival of religious enthusiasm, issuing in supremely practical affairs, has come about spending upon doctrinal preaching, and the idea now so widely emphasized that the public mind is not interested in, craving for doctrinal preaching as the inspiration to works of philanthropy is contradicted by every fact in the religious history of man.

Doctrinal principles are to the character what the mountain ranges are to the continent, and from their summits, and from their sides the freshening streams that make life beautiful and fruitful flow down.

If the pulpit or the church has lost some of the influence it had, as we are constantly told, it is simply because it has turned from its intellectual grasp of great spiritual truths to the merest platitudes about practical matters. With their demand for the practical there has been a corresponding decline of the literary, the theological and the unworshipful standard of the pulpit.

We lose our respect for those who have no knowledge of the tools which belong to their trades or their professions. A great many of the clergy seem to have forgotten that the church stands for theology for all that man has tried to know or experience about God—if he do the will of God he shall know of the doctrine—and the extreme meaning and purport of theology; the will of God.

It is because my friend Hornbrooke was so fine an illustration of what I have been saying about preaching that he was such an honored member of the Ministers' Club; an old and remarkable society in Boston, made up of the clergymen of various denominations, whose object is the discussion of theological subjects. Mr. Hornbrooke's papers or his criticisms were always listened to with marked interest. There was a certain massiveness about them; the learning of a careful student; the illustrations of a cultivated reader; the emphasis of spiritual principles—few but universal; imperative; regenerating; inspiring to daily duty. It is a good thing, if to his studies which belong peculiarly to a theologian, a preacher can add a great love for some commanding figure in art, or science, or literature, or government. This is what Mr. Hornbrooke found in his study of Browning. It gave him a wealth of illustration, of suggestion, for all his writings, and as the years went on he was everywhere acknowledged as one of the leading Browning commentators in this country. Now I am quite confident that as in the texts from Scripture we often find for our purpose much of which the writer never thought, or put into them much which he would never accept, or draw from them lessons far astray from what he meant—some of which he might be grateful for, some of which upon reflection he would reject; so it is in the love of a poet like Browning. There was often doubtless in his mind much that words could not clearly express, or some hidden meaning passing through his brain which no other could grasp, and the more diligent and profound the study of such a writer the more we think we find there our own most cherished views, or our highest moral conceptions, or spiritual ideals, and one begins to think they embrace everything the most fertile mind can ponder; as Mr. Hornbrooke says, "other lessons of which Browning never dreamed are suggested to every attentive reader."

In one of his papers on the poet, there is a strong testimony to what I have been saying about practical preaching. "Here," he says, "Browning gives an unconscious refutation of the notion which often finds attention in these days, that it makes no difference what we believe as far as practical life goes. This is true as far as mere superficial and conventional beliefs go. But the real belief of a man determines the character of all he does and says; it is the most real thing about him. And so it is of the utmost importance that a man should know that his belief is capable of justification in view of his deepest thought." There is a profound lesson including both an accusation against and an appeal to our churches when he says of the "Ring and Book"—"we learn from the poem how the existence of Christian institutions may go along with the utter absence of the Christian life."

The old Hebrew and Greek annals are marked by constant reference to the setting up of religious memorials, and the interesting thing about it all is that to the Oriental imagination, the stone, the brass, the wood, the gold become personified, animated, gifted with memory and a voice, ready to be testimony to what had there happened, to the life there commemorated. The eastern mind always found it easy to clothe the inanimate unintelligent object with perception and memory and utterance. It was the childhood of the world, and the childhood of religion, and childhood still finds the old faith in the new world. It is a thought which underlies most of the early religions and authorities of the world. Joshua said: "This stone shall be a witness unto us for it hath heard all the words of the Lord which he spake unto us."

It is a good thing in these restless and shifting days to set up some memorials to those whose lives have been helpful to us, who have held up to us the highest ideals of life. I cannot conceal from myself what most of you may consider a dream, though none can prove it impossible, that if the spirits of the departed hover in some mysterious manner near the haunts that were dear to them on earth, they also may be reached by our remembrance and have added joy because their names are pronounced on the scenes where in life they labored and worshipped, and some added sorrow too may pass to them, if they behold our lives given over to mourning for them rather than taking up our life with some new courage and enriching it by carrying on and out all their good words, and works and intentions. Sacred as are the memories of bereavement life is too precious and divine a gift to be worn out in sorrow, when it is so rich in opportunities and responsibilities and blessings which our doing might add even happiness to the departed.

As we and our churches grow in years the world ought to be for us fuller of memories of nobleness, courage, generosity, honor, faith, sweetness, self-forgetfulness so that we shall be surer in the midst of all our perplexities, disappointments, losses, that heroism and saintliness are still possible. And we ought to live lives so true and rich, and fine and deep, that the world shall get new monuments from us, that in some little circle there may be some memorial which shall be a witness to the men and women we leave behind us to help them, to restrain them, to inspire them when they are tempted to deny their God, the very marvellous saying, "Am I not a witness to you of the truer life for which I pleaded and called." This alone justifies our memorials which seem to say to us, as the stones the Israelites of old set up—here the Lord hath spoken unto us and here we will listen and obey.

At the Memorial.
My friends:—As I unveil this memorial which your loyalty and love have placed in this sanctuary where Francis Bickford Hornbrooke labored and triumphed and suffered—bear tenderly in your hearts I beseech you, and tell it to your children and your successors at this altar—that there was a messenger to you of the great essentials and inspirations of the religious life. May this marble remind you Sunday by Sunday of these essential truths and inspirations, here to renew your allegiance to them; here may you take them as the guide and guard of your daily lives, and may you have a revival and increase of the enthusiasm and prosperity and consecration which under his ministry reared this beautiful house of God and home of your worship.

Rev. Harry Lutz.
Rev. Mr. Lutz accepted in the following appropriate remarks:

In behalf of Channing Church, it is my part and privilege to accept this memorial to Dr. Francis B. Hornbrooke, whose life and spirit is identified with this institution. His heart and will, so many years earnestly and zealously exercised for the uplifting of the spiritual life in this community, immortalized in the institution through which he served, live again in memory and influence to "Be the sweet presence of a good diffused."

Whose music is the gladness of the world.
We are happy also in the acceptance of this memorial by reason of the coincidence today of the birthday of Dr. Hornbrooke and Robert Browning. Not the least of Dr. Hornbrooke's achievements in life was his fine appreciation and interpretation of that great modern poet and prophet of Faith Triumphant. The high vision and robust faith of Browning found sympathetic understanding and intelligent expression in Dr. Hornbrooke's thought and word. It moved as a convincing, inspiring force and broke into light of truth and life in his ministry. Through his published word it comes to us also who have not been permitted a personal acquaintance with him. We all may share the deep sense of gratitude for the splendid heritage he has bequeathed to the present and future thought and life in the recently published volume, "An Interpretation of the Ring and the Book," which is, not only a valuable contribution to literature, but also an enlargement and reinforcement of the Browning spirit through the allied personality and clear vision of the appreciator and interpreter.

As the representative of Channing Church, I am pleased to accept this memorial, and take this occasion to thank the members of the committee who have administered the affairs leading to this gift and all who have contributed to it. I desire also to thank all who have lent their services to the occasion of unveiling and presentation of this memorial and tribute to the personality and service of Dr. Hornbrooke.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The past week has held many matters of interest at the State House, including the passage of the demand for a constitutional convention to provide for the direct election of national senators by the House after a long and arduous battle, with a margin of but six votes. As was expected, the resolve met a prompt and emphatic defeat in the senate, but the moral effect of its passage by the House will go a long way to help direct elections in the future.

The senate has also passed by a large majority, the pernicious and so-called eight-hour bill, which Governor Draper so courageously vetoed last year. Senator Mulligan was recorded as favoring this bill, which is not only bad politics but bad legislation. The senator certainly does not represent this city in his attitude on this bill.

The Boston Globe aptly states the situation in the following language: "What a great many people can't understand is how senators can consistently one day refuse to pass the 54-hour bill, preventing women and children from working overtime, and the next day vote to make eight hours a day on public work, which will benefit husky laborers and mechanics. But then men vote and women and children don't."

The Committee on Cities has reported the new bill to allow the mayor to remove city officials of Newton without the consent of the aldermen. This committee continues to make inexcusable blunders as the present bill fails to rescind the act passed earlier in the session providing for a similar authority, but only applying to minor officials. Unless amended, there will be two referendums at the coming city election practically on the same subject.

The amendment to the state constitution to allow the use of voting machines was passed by the House, Representatives Bothfeld and Ellis voting in favor and Mr. White in opposition.

The direct nomination of representatives and senators as embodied in the Walker bill has passed the Senate in concurrence, without amendment, although the placing of county officers within the scope of direct nominations failed by a single vote. Senator Mulligan voted against this amendment but in favor of the bill. J. C. Brimblecom.

BOSTON AHEAD IN TRANSPORTATION MATTERS

A Brooklyn railway man, who was in this city a few days ago studying our underground railway structures, was greatly impressed with the number of cars and the passengers and the ease with which they were handled at Park street and other important stations. In the East Boston tunnel he finds a model to be followed in Brooklyn for a subway across the city. The Brooklyn Eagle summarizes his report and publishes an interview as follows:

Boston's way of handling its transit problems is interesting in the view of the trolley men of this borough, who are confronting at least one problem similar to that solved by the Hub, in the through operation of trolleys across Manhattan to the North River. One expert, who has just returned from Boston, thinks that the latter city is a little ahead of her transit problems all the time. The recent offer of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Coney Island and Brooklyn companies to operate a city subway for trolleys in Canal street, so as to bring through trolleys from Bensonhurst, or Flatbush or Canarsie or Jamaica directly across all Manhattan's main "up-and-down" arteries of traffic and finally to the North River, presents an idea which, although radically novel in New York, is no novelty in Boston. It was to see just how Boston had met this situation that this visit was made. This is what he says about it:

"Away back in 1894 they built the Tremont street subway to do away with precisely the same conditions as will be created if a heavy Brooklyn trolley car traffic is turned in upon the surface level of Canal street and forced to stem the 'up-and-down' surface, at all the great Manhattan arteries that street intersects."

"The Tremont street subway was the first subway ever built in this country for city traffic, the first ever built anywhere for electric surface cars. The men who designed and built it had no precedents by which to be guided. They built into that underground structure curves and grades that would not be tolerated in a railroad construction today. And yet Tremont street subway on a single pair of tracks has operated without the slightest delay 230 full-length trolley cars in a single hour, the cars stopping three times to unload and to load passengers.

How Boston Paved the Way for Subway Building.

"That was the only phase of the relief that it gave—and made it pave the way toward subway construction all over the country. Before it was built, Tremont street was one of the worst bottle-necks in all of congested Boston town. It took cars more than half an hour to go from Boylston street to Scollay square, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile. Tremont street then closely approximated what Canal street would be, in case any Brooklyn railroad was able to secure permission to operate over the Metropolitan's tracks to the North River. It was bisected by constant cross-currents of traffic. These were not to be compared with the cross-currents that ebb and flow across Canal street, and still surface car travel through that bottle-neck was a reproach and a disgrace to Boston."

"When the Tremont street subway was completed cars went from Boylston street to Scollay square in less than seven minutes. The time saving and the money saving to Boston were well nigh incalculable. After a time two of the four tracks in the trunk were given over to elevated trains; within the past year they have been given back to surface trolleys once again. The other two tracks have never known anything else than trolleys upon them. For 13 years they have borne great daily tides of trolley car traffic, and with the greatest measure of success. At night it is customary to handle 230 cars in the Tremont street subway to Park street station and out again, without any sort of hitch. That 230 car operation approximates the rush hour service on the Brooklyn bridge, is a greater one than any yet reached on the Williamsburg bridge and is probably greater than will ever be reached in Canal street."

The Success of the East Boston Subway Project.

"But the Boston folks are not particularly proud of Tremont street these days, when they come to think of East Boston subway, which operates trolleys exclusively. The East Boston subway was opened about five years ago, and is built for the handling of a far greater multitude than has yet come to it. Two miles of tunnel are easily traversed by the trolleys in 5-1-2 minutes, which means a speed closely approximating that of high-speed elevated or subway trains."

"The East Boston tunnel is very similar in its general location to the proposed Canal street subway. It gathers in a number of through surface trolley lines in Maverick square, East Boston, and crosses an arm of the harbor—using a tunnel instead of a bridge—to distribute the passengers in the business heart of the city, giving them quick access to other routes of travel. Three stations—one at Atlantic avenue, where there are both surface and elevated cars overhead; another at the old State House, in the very heart of the financial district, and a third at Scollay square, giving access to a large group of surface, elevated and subway lines—make almost a continued terminal in the heart of Boston."

"That is the Boston theory—to gather passengers together at various outlying local points—Maverick square is one of these, bring them at high speed and without delaying intermediate stations, into the very heart of the city. In the heart of the town the stations will be built close to one another. Every facility is given to the rapid unloading and loading of the traffic."

Conditions Possible with Subway Operations at Canal Street.

"The commodious stations of Boston's trolley subways stand in keen contrast to the conditions that would prevail on the surface level of Canal street. To board Brooklyn trolley cars in the centre of the street, subject to no protection from storm or from the traffic of the busy street, is a different proposition from going down a few steps to a well-lighted, well-ventilated underground trolley station, where Brooklynites may wait in a degree of comfort for the particular car that takes them home."

"A glance at any of the trolley stations in the Boston subways would convince a man of the comfort by which this may be done—the cars systematically announced, unloaded and loaded again for the return trip."

NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION.

The "Donation Party" given by the directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association on Monday, May 2, at the Newton Hospital was very successful and satisfactory. The gifts of money, provisions, clothing and household effects were most acceptable. Many business firms as well as private individuals in and outside of Newton sent generous contributions and a variety of small gifts indicated the interest of the children in the cause.

The board of directors greatly appreciate the hearty response to the call for donations and desire to express their thanks to all those who remembered the day in so substantial a manner.

But a small proportion of the children who attend our elementary schools in Newton graduate from our High School, and thereafter take a collegiate training, either classical or technical, and this plan, worked out by the Chamber of Commerce committee on education, will give such young men and women, who are willing to take time from their leisure hours for study, an opportunity to obtain a collegiate education and a degree. Mr. S. B. Paul, principal of the several schools in this village, will make a short address, and the meeting will be presided over by Mr. A. E. Alvord of the school committee.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—The annual appearance at Keith's of Valerie Berge has become an event of importance, particularly for the reason that on each succeeding visit Miss Berge has presented something entirely new. The present occasion, however, is one of more than ordinary moment, for she will be surrounded by the largest company of players ever seen in vaudeville, and in a production called "The Lion Tamer." In "The Lion Tamer" Miss Berge has scored the crowning triumph of her career. She will head an exceptionally strong bill, another feature being the Tumbler Troubadours, Charles Lavenberg's splendid company of singers amid picturesque surroundings. Also on the bill are Willie Panzer and company, perhaps the most expert troupe of acrobats now before the public, and they are not only acrobats but comedians; Charles Leonard Fletcher, the Impersonator, in an entirely new program; the Doherty sisters, in songs and dances; Anderson and Goines; Marlon Garson, and others to be announced.

Tremont Theatre—"The Girl in the Taxi," a farce comedy with musical specialties, began an engagement at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, Monday evening last before an audience that jammed the theatre to the doors. The play was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm, the numberless complications causing the audience to go almost into hysterics before the evening was over. There is not the slightest doubt but "The Girl in the Taxi" is the greatest laugh-producing entertainment seen in Boston this season and its popularity should cause it to remain in this city for many weeks to come. "The Girl in the Taxi" lends itself admirably to an English rendition and Mr. Stange, its adapter, has preserved much of the smart dialogue and brilliant epigrams, with all of the good humor of the distinguished German writer. The company presenting "The Girl in the Taxi" is one seldom equalled in this day of one-star attractions.

American Music Hall—A real dramatic thriller in the form of a one-act playlet called "After the Opera" will be the big feature at the American Music Hall next week. The sketch has lately had a long run at the "Paris Grand Guignol" and "The Empire" in London and the American Music Hall in New York, and it seems likely to duplicate its success in these cities while in Boston. Terry and Lambert are a clever pair of character artists, who being Americans themselves, portray many English types through American eyes. Josephine Sabel is not only quaint as to voice, material and gestures, but she proves herself a real comedienne as well. Sam Stern is another act that makes a decided hit with his Italian and Hebrew characterizations. The balance of the bill will be made up of all-star acts fully up to the standard established by William Morris, Inc., at all of his independent vaudeville houses.

ABUSING THE BABY.

By McLandburgh Wilson.

The baby wept with bitter tears

That pierced my heart to see,

And loud it cried, until I asked,

"What might the matter be?"

It stopped its wail to answer me,

"My ma has gone to Albany."

"Oh, wicked woman," I replied,

"Away from you to flee."

Deserting you in helplessness

To make a suicide plea!

The Babe and Home are Heaven's key

And not the halls of Albany."

At this the child no louder bawled,

Then woeful answered she:

"My ma's an anti-suffragist,

I like her gall, b'gee!"

It is to keep the vote from me

That ma has gone to Albany!"

Lower Falls.

—The Men's Club of the Methodist Episcopal Church observed ladies' night last Monday evening. After a reception the following program was given: Piano solo, R. L. Putnam; solo, R. L. The annual May Festival of the New England and Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Associations will be held at Fort Hall, Tuesday, May 17. Supper at 6:30 will be followed by addresses by Max Eastman of New York, Frances Squire Potter, formerly of the University of Minnesota, Professor Henry S. Nash of Cambridge and Miles Ray Costelloe of England.

ROADS INSPECTED BY MASSACHUSETTS HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION.

To study results of practical road building in many cities and towns, about 150 members of the Massachusetts Highway Association, of which Deputy Street Commissioner George E. Stuart of Newton is president, made an inspection trip through eastern Massachusetts on May 4.

The start was made shortly before 10 o'clock from the Arlington street side of the Public Garden. President Lewis R. Spence of the American Automobile Association arranged the plans of securing the motor cars and induced the local dealers to furnish the necessary cars for the transportation of the members and their guests.

President George E. Stuart, with Mayor Hatfield of Newton, were in the official car, as guests of Frank E. Wing, who lives also in Newton. Mr. Wing is New England agent for the Marmon Automobile Manufacturing Company. When they started off the cars made a line nearly one-half a mile long.

They drove to Somerville, thence to Middlesex Fells parkway, Revere Beach boulevard, Lynn, Swampscott, state highway and Salem. From there the party proceeded to Beverly, North Beverly, Wenham, Hamilton, Ipswich, taking dinner at the Ferncroft Inn at 1 o'clock. The afternoon itinerary included an inspection of the highways at Newburyport, Andover, North Andover, Reading, Stoneham, and the Metropolitan Park reservation, returning to Boston about 6 o'clock.

Colonel W. D. Sohler and Engineer Dean of the Massachusetts Highway Commission went on the trip, also Harold Parker of Lancaster, Massachusetts highway commissioner, and John R. Rabin of Boston, chief engineer of Metropolitan Park Commission. Among others present from our city were Street Commissioner Charles W. Ross, H. Wilson Ross, superintendent of the Newton Cemetery, and City Engineer Rogers.

It proved a very enjoyable outing and added exceedingly to the object for which the association was organized, namely, the acquirement and dissemination of knowledge, both theoretical and practical, relating to the construction and maintenance of highways.

A Men's League for Woman Suffrage composed of such representative citizens as President Huntington of Boston University, Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, Professor Charles Zuehlke, Edwin D. Mead and a hundred others has recently been formed at 20 Beacon street, Boston. As its name implies, this organization seeks to provide for women the privileges of citizenship which they so deeply value themselves.

THE BOOK PLATES OF ARTHUR N. MACDONALD OF WEST ORANGE, N. J.

Mr. MacDonald's first work as an engraver was done as a boy at school. He was interested even in those days in wood engraving and with some tools that were home made he began experiments in this direction. He even lifted up the desk lid and worked behind it when he should have been engaged with his lessons, which suffered in consequence. Later he obtained some copper plate tools from Mr. Orville Dean of Attleboro, Mass., who gave him his first instruction in this art. After leaving school he became a designer, going to an art school in Providence at night. He also studied art with a Miss Baker. Like E. D. French, the early training of Mr. MacDonald as a book plate artist was obtained as an engraver of silverware. It was thus that he acquired that firmness and certainty of guidance as to his graver that is so necessary. From the scroll work that has so often seemed to be monopolized by the silversmiths has he derived some of the lines that he given place on his book plates as they now come from his hands. A great admirer of the work of Mr. French whose fellow workman he was for a time, he has from the very first followed in his footsteps without slavishly imitating him. Perhaps Mr. MacDonald is at his best in the interpretation of what has so happily been called the pictorial plate. Artistic in temperament to a degree, and painstaking in his execution and finish, Mr. MacDonald has already produced not quite one hundred plates in which there has been a constantly increasing trend toward perfection, for the attainment of which he constantly strives in season and out of season. He has a wide range as to subject and a very delicate expression in all of his recent copper plates.

These plates are now on exhibition at the Newton Public Library.

One's most vivid imagination would hardly picture such an ideal home where caring for others' pets is not an irksome duty but rather a pleasure.

So wide spread has its fame traveled that even New Yorkers send their pets to it.

PREPARING FOR THE FOURTH.

Fourth of July celebrations are everywhere being talked about. The New York Tribune recently gave a full page to the discussion of substitutes for the old-time, noisy Fourth. For a month before the Fourth, in accordance with the orders of Mayor Gaynor, no fireworks will be sold in New York city. Yet the small boy must have his Fourth. What shall it be?

Several prominent New York citizens have proposed that there be hundreds of small celebrations in all parts of their city, one in each of the smaller parks, giving the children themselves an opportunity to act out the struggles for liberty—not only the American struggle, but also Italian, Russian, German, Swiss, according to the locality of the district—with brief speeches by popular orators to show the meaning of the events acted out by the children. The singing of patriotic songs by the children. It is suggested, should have a prominent part in such open-air celebrations. Children like to march; so hundreds of parades with bands at the head are suggested. If these plans are carried out, the Fourth will remain "children's day," even though there be no firecrackers.

Kite-flying contests in different parts of the city are suggested. Mr. Lee F. Hamner of the Russell Sage Foundation has suggested that at a given time, perhaps at 12 o'clock noon, all the church bells of the city ring out as the old Independence bell did, that whistles blow for five minutes, and that promptly at 12 each child release a toy balloon with an American flag attached.

It has also been proposed that motion pictures of American history be shown in the small parks in the evening. Many other interesting plans are being discussed.

A special meeting of municipal delegates from many cities in the United States is to be held in Rochester on June 10 in connection with the fourth annual congress of the Playground Association of America, to discuss the whole question of the celebration of the Fourth. A committee of the association is now making a study of what different communities have done. This committee will report at the meeting to be held in Rochester. For the preparation of its report, information is being gathered from nearly nine hundred American cities.

SCHOOL COST

Dr. F. E. Spaulding, superintendent of Newton schools, contributes to the symposium of the Boston Globe last Sunday on the increasing cost of schools. Dr. Spaulding's article follows:

Wrong Ideas Corrected.
The same ideas—whatever they are—that have brought about the great increase in the cost of living, and of carrying on business of all kinds, public and private, are chiefly responsible for the increase in school expenditures. Comparatively speaking, the increased cost of education has not been great, but very moderate.

The average annual cost per pupil in Massachusetts has increased less than 25 per cent in the last 14 years, that is, from $29.77 to $38.32. These figures include the cost of new buildings and permanent improvements, amounting in the first year of this period to $5.20, in the last to $7.14 per child. Deducting these figures from the total costs, we find the current expenses of maintaining our schools have increased from $24.57 to $31.19 per child, an increase of slightly less than 27 per cent.

A part of this 27 per cent increase is due to an increase of 7 1/2 per cent in the length of the school year. The most of it is due directly to an increase in the cost of all the principal items that are involved in school maintenance—teaching, supervision and other services, text books and supplies.

From 73 to 75 per cent of all current expenses are for teachers' salaries. These have increased in 14 years slightly more than 20 per cent for men and 24 per cent for women—far too little to make the wage of today equivalent in purchasing power to that of 14 years ago.

There has been an increased cost for instruction amounting to less than 3 per cent on account of reduction in the size of classes. The average class is smaller now by one child than it was 14 years ago. At this rate of reduction we shall begin to have classes of fairly reasonable size about the year 2015.

The expenditures for text books, stationery and other school supplies, which amounts to about 8 per cent of the total cost of education, has increased 45 per cent. This increase is partly due to the more adequate furnishing of the materials of education, but very largely to the increased cost of these materials.

In a word, this analysis makes it evident that the total increase in expenditures is due in but slight degree to the more adequate provisions of teachers or of the means of education, but almost wholly to the necessity of responding in a measure to the general increases which have taken place all about us. It is very doubtful that the increase in teachers' salaries, which makes up nearly

ACCIDENT

An automobile running on the wrong side of the roadway crashed into a closed carriage at the junction of Boyd and Emerson streets Sunday evening, but although both vehicles suffered in the collision, none of their occupants were injured.

The carriage was owned by George W. Bush and was being driven by James Kelley, who lives on Emerson street. He was driving several members of his family home from church and had almost reached there when the accident occurred. The automobile swung sharply into the pathway of the carriage but quick work on the part of the chauffeur averted a head-on crash. Part of the running gear of the carriage was smashed and one of the lamps on the automobile was put out of commission.

three-fourths of the whole, has been sufficient to attract and hold teaching ability equal to that secured 14 years or more ago. There can be no doubt that the teaching ability which the schools can command for the future will deteriorate decidedly unless salaries are materially increased, or unless the present high level of prices is much lowered.

Greatly exaggerated ideas of the increased cost of education are popular and prevalent. The frequently alleged causes of the supposed increases have little to do with such real increases as there have been. A few progressive places have greatly enlarged the functions and increased the efficiency of their public schools; they have reduced the size of classes, secured more efficient teachers by paying higher salaries, and introduced many forms of practical training unknown in schools a decade ago.

All these improvements have resulted in increasing the tax rate for school maintenance by 50 to 100 per cent. But these real increases due to real enlargements and improvements in the schools have taken place in relatively few and comparatively small places; they effects are insignificant in the general averages for the state. They do serve to attract attention, make talk, cause alarm, and suggested exaggerated and erroneous ideas concerning general increases in educational expenditures and the causes thereof.

Real increases in the cost of educating a child adequately—increases relatively larger than the increases in the costs of other things—are yet to come. If this state ever really does a small part of all that is being generally advocated and demanded in the way of industrial and technical education, expenditures will be necessary beside those of today will be small indeed.

FESTIVAL

The annual May Festival of the New England and Massachusetts Suffrage Associations, held Tuesday evening at Ford Hall, was a gratifying success socially, intellectually and financially. The hall was well filled with every table taken, Newton being represented by 20 of her representative citizens. Mrs. Mary Ware Bennett, who presided, first introduced Frances Squine Potter of the University of Minnesota, whose vitally interesting address on "Woman as a Political Factor" was structurally perfect, her well-rounded sentences and perfectly modelled divisions of thought carrying her hearers along in a swift stream of eloquence. Max Eastman of Columbia University followed, giving in his infinitely humorous manner some reasons for his advocacy of equal suffrage, serving out to the opponents of equal suffrage some of the ridicule and contempt of which they use such a generous portion.

Miss Ray Costelloe of England, a pretty brown-eyed girl with a charming smiling dimple, related some of the incidents of suffrage work in England, and why such work proved so intensely interesting.

Professor Henry Nash of Cambridge followed, stating that the principle of "equal suffrage" was to him a "moral passion," and that against his innate and inbred prejudices he was forced to advocate the justice of it.

Altogether the subject was splendidly treated from four radically different standpoints, proving that a great principle can take hold of "all sorts and conditions of men." Alice Stone Blackwell sat at the speaker's table. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who had expected to be present, sent greetings and regrets.

PROFITS IN MILK.

Announcement will be found in another column of the profits derived from the sale of milk by the well-known firm of H. P. Hood & Sons. The statement is of considerable interest in the present controversy between the milk producers and the milk consumers. The business standing of the Hood concern gives their signed statement great weight and calls for the careful consideration of all interested.

VACATION WEEK.

The directors of the Newton Vacation Week gratefully acknowledge the receipt of donations from 70 persons of sums varying from ten cents to ten dollars, with one check for a larger amount. The sum already received is $125, which is a little more than half of what is needed for the summer work. Heartly thanks are given to all contributors, whether large or small, and further donations gladly received.

WHY?

The Boston Journal recently printed the opinions of the Massachusetts Congressmen why Republicans should be re-elected the coming fall. That of Congressman Weeks of this district is as follows:

"You ask me why I think the Republicans in the Massachusetts delegation in Congress should be re-elected. I answer, without qualification, because they have, by length of service, by high character and by intelligent and industrious study of public questions, so established their position that their places cannot be filled without lessening, for the time being, at least, the influence which Massachusetts has in Washington. Without going into particulars, I need only say that one-half of the Republicans are chairmen of committees, and in at least three instances members are approaching, by seniority process, places of highest importance."

"Mr. McCall is the third member on the ways and means committee, with a reasonable prospect, if he is kept here another Congress or two, of becoming its chairman. Mr. Gillett is in a similar position on the committee on appropriations, these being the most important committees in the House. Mr. Lawrence is the ranking man on the rivers and harbors committee. There is every probability, therefore, that those three very important committees will within a limited number of years be headed by Massachusetts men. All of these things should be taken into consideration in making changes. If they are taken into consideration I cannot believe that the people of Massachusetts will take such action. Speaking for myself, I am serving my third term in Congress, and if I am re-nominated by the 12th district Republican convention next fall I expect to base any claim I have for reelection on the record which I have been able to make."

HORNBROOKE MEMORIAL.

The excellent cut of the bust of the late Rev. Dr. Hornbrooke which was printed last week was from a photograph made by Mr. Ellis E. Moore, the well-known photographer of this city. Mr. Moore had a difficult task to take the photograph as the bust is so placed in the dimly lighted church as to require the utmost skill to produce a good negative.

SPLENDID MEETING.

The presence of ladies and many guests made the annual meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association last night at Temple Hall a most interesting occasion. Fully three hundred persons were present, attracted by the fine program announced by the committee in charge. OUT OF THE GINGER JAR.

The man who stutters does not need to be told to think twice before he speaks once.

The chandelier hat proves that not only must city folks look to the farmyard for their living, but also for their styles.

The young fellow who told his best girl that she was the apple of his eye, doubtless meant that she was a "Seek-no-further."

Always stand up for the right, but do not wear yourself out with worry because you can not turn the world and make it over in a day.

There is a difference between a hooedo and a who don't.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

I find that my criticism of the Committee on Cities, last week, relative to the new bill authorizing the Mayor to remove city officials without the consent of the aldermen, was without foundation. I made the statement last week on the word of one of our representatives that the committee had reported the bill exactly as presented. The printed report shows that the committee made a new draft and provided for the repeal of the previous act of this year, as suggested in this column last week.

In the Senate last week Thursday the amendment to the national constitution to provide for the direct election of senators was rejected, 11 to 22. Senator Mulligan voting in the negative. The senator also voted against reconsideration of this vote on Friday. Senator Mulligan also voted for the amendments to the state constitution to increase powers for taking land, etc., for highways, and to authorize the use of voting machines at all elections, both of which were passed.

All three of our representatives were recorded against reconsideration of the rejection of the bill to allow peaceful reconsideration, and against referring to the next General Court of the bill to limit the time of construction of electric railroads, while Mr. Ellis voted in favor of substituting a bill for investigation of the common control of public service corporations, and Mr. White against such substitution, the vote being 82 to 73.

The House is now passing the bill to provide for a safe and sane Fourth of July the bill making it unlawful to keep or sell any blank cartridge toy pistol, gun or cannon, any blank cartridge or bomb or any firecracker exceeding two inches in length and three-eighths of an inch in diameter, excepting fireworks set off after 7 p. m. Cities and towns are also authorized to prohibit the sale or use of fireworks or firecrackers within their limits and the bill is to take effect June 1 of the current year.

A bill which will probably become law before this article is in print requires school committees to teach pupils the principles of "thrift." In these days of high living, it would seem as if this simple bill pointed in the right direction.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the many enemies of the New Haven railroad, the joint committees on railroads and street railways have favorably reported a bill to allow that much maligned corporation to help develop the transportation facilities of the Berkshires by some control over the trolley service in that district. I believe that the public is heartily tired of the continual harping of certain interests—mostly identified with a minority of the stockholders of other corporations—that the New Haven Company is a criminal and malefactor. Corporations are an absolute necessity in people are to travel expeditiously, comfortably and cheaply—if we are to have the facilities for telephone, express, telegraph and most of the present day necessities of life—and they should be encouraged and intelligently regulated, rather than legislatively fettered and obligated.

The street railway committee has also favorably reported a bill which will allow the Boston Elevated Company to become interested in the suburban trolley companies, which feed its district. As I have said before this legislation cannot fail to be of great advantage to this city and it is to be hoped that the action of the committee will be adopted by the General Court.

To Our Patrons and the Public:

It has been repeatedly and publicly asserted that the profits of this company are excessive, and that we are unjust to the producers in not being willing to yield some part of these large profits by advancing the price to them.

During the business year ending January 31, 1910, this company brought to market nearly $3,000,000 worth of milk. Of this amount we sold 23 per cent to family trade, 57 per cent to hotels, restaurants, stores, and milk dealers, the balance of 20 per cent was left on our hands, with no sale, and used by us in creameries.

On the milk delivered to our family customers the average profit did not exceed 2 1-2 mills per quart.

On the milk delivered to hotels, restaurants, stores and milk dealers our net average profit did not exceed 1-2 a mill per quart.

On the surplus milk left on our hands there was no profit.

On the entire amount of milk purchased during the year and brought to market the net average profit to this company was

LESS THAN 2-3 OF A MILL PER QUART

Our total net profit for the year on nearly $3,000,000 worth of milk which we handled was

LESS THAN 1 AND 1-10 PER CENT. OF THE SALES

If we had acceded to the demands of the producers as presented this company would not only have been deprived of all profit on its milk, but would have suffered.

A NET LOSS OF MORE THAN $150,000

Does this look like excessive profit to this company or injustice to the producer?

Respectfully yours,

H. P. HOOD & SONSANNOUNCEMENT

A LIEDERHEIM MUSICAL.

A brilliant "At Home" took place at the Liedersheim School of Vocal Music, Auburndale, last Wednesday evening, it being the final "At Home" of the season. The house was thronged with friends and a most delightful program was given. Mr. E. H. Titcomb, formerly organist of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, appeared in a new role, that of composer. They consisted of five songs sung by Miss Ruggles. These were followed by a brilliant work for two pianos, called "The Sea." The second piano was ably taken by Miss Linda McAlister. The talented young violinist, Miss Julia Pickard of Auburndale, furnished three or four selections for the violin in her usual finished style, being accompanied by Miss Marion Chapin.

This concert is to be followed by another Liedersheim musical in Norumbega Hall, Auburndale, Wednesday evening, May 25, at 8 o'clock. The chief performers on this occasion will be Mr. Carl Lamson of Boston, pianist, and Mr. Leon Van Vleet of Boston, violinist. This program promises an evening of rare pleasure to music lovers. Friends are cordially invited without further notice.

MRS. BARNES DEAD.

—Mrs. Phoebe Jennings Barnes, the widow of Lucius Barnes, died yesterday morning at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. George F. Lowell, on Walnut street, Newtonville, at the age of 88 years, 3 months. Mrs. Barnes was a native of Waltham, Vt., and had resided with her granddaughter in Newtonville for the past ten years. Coming from a family long interested in measures of reform and active in the movement for anti-slavery, Mrs. Barnes was a suffragist when its advocacy demanded great moral courage. She was a woman who made many friends for her beautiful character and brilliant intellect. She is survived by one son, one daughter, four grandchildren, ten great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from Mrs. Lowell's home, 525 Walnut street, Newtonville, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

—Messrs. Brainerd & Leeds, the architects for the Newton association building, have been chosen after a competition with five other firms to draw plans for the new Y. M. C. A. building at Lawrence. Prof. Hamilton of Columbia University passed upon the plans. This will be welcome news to the many friends of Mr. Leeds, who is a resident of Newton.

On Wednesday, May 25, the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held in the association rooms. After the election of officers there will be a social time at which refreshments will be served. Every member of the auxiliary is urged to be present.

On Monday evening will be held the last meeting of the season of the "Fellowship Club." A supper will be served at 6:20. Dr. George S. Butters will be the guest and speaker of the evening.

Physical Department.

The Senior baseball team met its strongest rival last Saturday in the Page Class of Roxbury, winning the game by a score of 11 to 6. Up to the seventh inning it was anybody's game. In this inning the Y. M. C. A. hit the opponents' pitcher for five safe hits, three of them being for extra bases, netting five runs. This is the fifth consecutive victory of the association team, and this season promises to be the best ever. The features of the game was the pitching of Lindsey, the batting of Wood, Allen and Halliday, and the fielding of Johnson, the third baseman for the Page Class. Next Saturday the association team will play the Alston Baracas, who have a very fast team. The game will be played on the north diamond and will start at 3:15 p. m.

The Junior baseball series which have been played Saturday mornings between two teams, one representing the "game" boys, the other the "gym" boys, was won by the "game" team. The series has been very interesting, the "gym" boys winning the first two games and the "game" boys taking the last three.

A Junior team will be organized composed of the best players from each of the above teams. This team will be managed by Mr. Gilliam. Any teams in and about Newton between the ages of 12 and 16 who wish games can arrange same by applying to Mr. Gilliam.

Attention is invited to an article and especially to Dr. Spaulding's conclusions, where he says "Real increases in the cost of educating a child adequately—increases relatively larger than the increases in the costs of other things—are yet to come." With a jump in school expenses from $193,000 in 1900 to $323-000 in 1910 and the above words of Dr. Spaulding in mind, is it not time to cry a halt in schemes for reducing the number of pupils per teacher, to abolish the ninth grade and various other matters which will inevitably add to the cost of education in this city.

Women's Clubs

The Massachusetts State Federation will hold its annual meeting at Lynn in the First Universalist Church, Nabant street, on June 6 and 7, as guests of the Women's Clubs and the Women's Club House. Corporation. The sessions on June 6 will begin at 3 and 7:45 p. m. and on June 7 at 10 a. m. and 1:45 p. m.
The evening session will be followed by a reception in the Lynn Women's Club house.

Luncheon will be served on June 7, tickets for which must be secured on or before June 4 by sending 50 cents and addressed stamped envelope to Mrs. Marie K. Tripp, 11 Baltimore street, Lynn.

Those who wish to remain over night on June 6 can secure accommodations at either the Bellevue or Elm Hotels at Swampscott for $2 per day by applying to Mrs. Henry Sprague, Swampscott, Mass., chairman of the hotels committee.

Since there seems to be some misunderstanding in regard to admission tickets the press committee announces that delegates in order to participate in the election must present the white special tickets duly filled out, but that the brown tickets will admit others than delegates to all the sessions and they may be obtained from the corresponding secretary of the Federation, if the supply sent to the clubs has been exhausted.

Members of the Social Science Club can secure brown admission tickets for the State Federation meeting at Lynn from Mrs. J. F. Bothfield.

At the first meeting of the executive board of the Newton Federation for the new year, 1910-1911, the following women were appointed chairmen of the standing committees for the year: Social committee, Mrs.
Woodward, West Newton Women's Educational Club; social service committee, Mrs. B. E. Taylor; education committee, Mrs. W. E. Shedd, Newton Centre Woman's Club; nominating committee, Mrs. A. R. Bailey, Social Science Club.

After the conclusion of the usual business Miss Gertrude Melick, the new school nurse, spoke of the work she is doing in the public schools of Newton. She was appointed in January and has the oversight of the Stearns, Horace Mann, Franklin, Burr and Emerson schools, aggregating 1500 children. She is on duty at 8:30 a. m., inspects all children sent to her by the teachers and makes a report for the doctor as she would in private nursing. The school committee has fitted up an office for her with a surgical closet in each building.

Miss Melick went into the details of her work in a most interesting way and showed convincingly of what a practical and valuable nature it is.
Some of the conditions of poverty, filth and neglect, which she has found, it was difficult to realize could exist within our own city limits. A very practical beginning she has made in examining the condition of the children's teeth. She has provided at a nominal price 600 tooth brushes and tubes of tooth paste and insists upon their being used. From week to week as she visits the different rooms, the room is marked according to the way in which the children have used them. She finds the children eager to do and excited over their marks. She is striving to teach them to come to school clean and as necessity arises she follows them to their homes. A pressing need just now is for a dental office where the poor children may have dentistry done at prices within their means and it is expected that the Federation will soon take steps in this direction.

Whenever Miss Melick finds anything that requires a physician she inquires who is the family physician and sends the child to him, but where there is none, she arranges for treatment by some one. Contrary to expectation, the family physician claims in many cases increased business.

Those who heard Miss Melick will follow her work with interest and feel that the city has made a step in the right direction in providing for it. She should be heard by all the clubs another year that the women of Newton may be informed of what exists right in our midst.

BAD FALL.

Chester Byrd, the 12-year-old son of A. H. Byrd of 17 Crafts street, Newtonville, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon by falling from a tree at Claffin field, off Lowell avenue. He is in the Newton Hospital suffering from internal injuries, but it is said he will recover.

The boy was watching the Newton High-Melrose High baseball game from the branches of trees surrounding the ball field. During a particularly exciting play he lost his grasp on the limb and fell 15 feet to the ground.

He struck on his forehead and his body doubled over in such a manner that he was unable to get his breath.
Physicians who were watching the game attended him and he was rushed to the hospital in an automobile.

NEWTON CLUB.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association was held at the club house Tuesday night to prepare for the lecture and annual meeting to be held this week.

The tennis courts are in splendid condition and have been used a number of times during the past week by members and associate members of the club.

NORUMBEGA PARK.

Norumbega Park is in complete readiness for the opening of its 14th brilliant season, and when one takes into consideration that in addition to all the elaborate improvements and additions in general made throughout this picturesque woodland amusement resort on the banks of the beautiful Charles River a magnificent new covered open-air theatre has been erected at an expenditure of $60,000 to replace the handsome structure which burned down early last season, a word of thanks is due Manager Carl Alberte for his energy and skill in bringing these things about. The new theatre is bound to be a surprise even to those who are the most sanguine about the management's constant efforts to please their patrons. It has no equal in the world as an open-air theatre devoted to vaudeville. The experience of past seasons has shown the management the advisability of providing for a still larger seating capacity and 3500 may now be accommodated at one time. Of these 1000 are free to patrons of the park as in past seasons.
The big vaudeville bill secured for the opening week, beginning Monday afternoon, May 23, will include the Jackson family, the eight marvellous cyclists; Bert Howard, the grotesque pianist and monologue king; Carroll and Murray, the dancing wonders, who have a terpsichorean repertoire which seems almost unlimited.

ter High team, 4 to 0, in a Greater

Brookline High golf team defeated Newton High, 3 to 2, in a Greater Boston Interscholastic Golf League match at the Commonwealth C. C. yesterday afternoon. The surprise of the afternoon was the victory of Manning of Newton over Outmet of Brookline, the interscholastic champion, by 2 up. Manning turned in a card of 80, Outmet having 81. The summary:

Manning, Newton, beat Outmet Brookline, 2 up; Lally, Brookline, beat Rice, Newton, 2 and 3; Mahon, Brookline, beat Weeks, Newton, 2 and 1; Pray, Newton, beat Russell, Brookline, 1 up; McPham, Brookline, beat Schoffield, Newton, 4 and 3.

Melrose High School's nine defended Newton High 6 to 4, on Claffin field yesterday afternoon. The Newton team showed plainly the effects of poor coaching and glaring errors helped Melrose to pile up runs. Gaw allowed the visitors only four hits and fanned eight batters, but he was accorded grammar school support.
The Newton boys pounded Cram hard, as was indicated by the fact that the Melrose first baseman had only five putouts, but they were unable to hit safely. In two innings the home team had chances to bring runs across but failed, although the rally in the last session brought the crowd up standing.

LETTER CARRIERS' SOCIAL.

There was a large attendance Wednesday night at the social given by the letter carriers of Newton and Watertown in A. O. U. W. Hall, West by William P. Holland, who was in charge of the affair. The entertainment committee was comprised of Dennis T. Ryan, William J. Connors, Charles Laffie, John Walsh and Lawrence Stanley. One of the speakers was Jeremiah D. Holland, formerly national president N. A. L. C., and now superintendent of the West Roxbury station. He spoke entertainingly on the "retirement bill." An interesting program of vocal and instrumental selections was presented.

RELIABLE FIGURES.

The Boston Post has taken the right course in backing up its circulation figures with verification statements from such well-known banking institutions as the Shawmut Bank, the First National and the Federal Trust Company of Boston.
These banks have set their experts at work on the books of the Post, and they certify that the daily Post circulated over 300,000 copies daily during April, and that the Sunday Post during the same time exceeded 200,000 copies. A new feature in circulation figures is the statement of the unpaid circulation, which amounts to about 7 per cent on the daily and 81.2 per cent on the Sunday edition. It might be mentioned incidentally that the Sunday Magazine which is a feature of the Sunday edition of the Post is one of the most readable periodicals of its kind now published.

vived by two sons. Funeral services were held Monday morning and were Church of Our Lady. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Michael Dolan, conducted a requiem mass. The burial was in St. Patrick's Cemetery at Watertown.

The pall-bearers included Cornelius Madden, Michael J. Mulvaney, Patrick Cowan, Michael Houlahan and Cornelius W. Keefe.

If All Housekeepers Knew the Advantages of the

Crawford Ranges

few others would be sold

In the saving of time, trouble and labor and in superior cooking ability, no other range can compare with them.

The Single Damper (patented) is the only perfect fire and oven control; one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," and the range does the rest.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. One Hod for ashes, instead of the old, clumsy ash pan; the other Hod for coal.

The Oven with its cup-joint flues is heated all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots."

The Patented Grates save trouble and money.

Auxiliary Gas Ranges at the end or above the range, if desired.

Ask the Crawford agent to show you and write us for circulars.

She resided from that time until 1900 in the Metcalf Homestead on Village street, Medway, Mass., which has been the home of the family for four generations. For the past few years Mrs. Metcalf has resided in East Blackstone. She is in good health and thoroughly enjoys life. Many a woman as sharp as a briar at the bargain counter, has been obliged to confess that she was fooled in the selection of a husband.

THEATRES

Park Theatre—What has proven to be the most remarkable theatrical success in the annals of Boston is that of William Hodge, in "The Man From Home," at the Park Theatre, which has broken all records and has established a new mark in the history of the Boston stage. "The Man From Home" is unquestionably the best American play that has been offered the public in many moons. It is so clean, so wholesome and original in construction, so distinctly different from everything gone before, so fascinatingly entertaining, so admirably enacted by a cast the equal of which has not been seen on any stage, that it appeals to all classes. But "The Man From Home" will shortly close its season and those who have not availed themselves of seeing the play would do well to take advantage in the next few weeks. The Park Theatre management make a special feature of filling mail orders. Seats can be secured two weeks in advance.

American Music Hall—Bostonians will next week have an opportunity of seeing the newest sensational importation from Europe, Clary Curlette, who comes to the Hub direct from her phenomenal success at the American Music Hall, New York. She is an incarnation of dainty demureness and is gifted with a personal magnetism which fairly electrifies her audience. Combined with this she possesses a voice which for sweetness and purity has no equal on the vaudeville stage. William Courtleigh is too well known to Boston theatregoers to need much comment. With a capable company he will present his strange dramatic playlet, "Peaches." The big vaudeville favorites, Montgomery and Moore, will be seen again in their hodge-podge of nonsensicalities that keep the audience in roars from start to finish. Clinton and Robb are a clever pair of entertainers who will present their laughable skit called "Back to Louisville." The balance of the bill will include Eddie Foley; Mons. Heibert, who will offer a decided novelty, and other big features which will be fully up to the William Morris, Inc., standard.

Keith's Theatre—With the Boston theatres one after another either closing or going into pictures, Keith's continues to go on its way giving even more remarkable bills than at the height of the season. In fact there are just as many headliners and of the same class every week as there were during the winter and this accounts for the crowded houses every evening. The coming week Julius Steger, who has long been a legitimate favorite, will come with a new production from the German, entitled "The Way to the Heart." Mr. Steger is supported by a splendid company of six people and the production is one of the handsomest ever seen in vaudeville.

Of an entirely different character will be another large company of favorites, Gus Edwards' school boys and girls. The company includes the original "Sassy Little" (Lillian Gohn), Frank Alvin, the "Tony Marrietta," and the Gordon boys, the dancers, in fact, the entire company of juvenile comedians who have made one of the greatest hits ever known in vaudeville. A new feature of the bill will be the first appearance here of Bixley and Fink, two of the funniest comedians that vaudeville has had in recent years. Merrill and Otto will present a sketch called "After the Shower," one of the prettiest and daintiest that vaudeville has ever had. The Italian Trio of singers are also on the bill, which promises to be one of the most entertaining of the year.

Tremont Theatre—"The Girl in the Taxi," with Carter De Haven, has swept all Boston into her fast-paced, exciting cab and holds it captive and captivated by her numerous charms and refreshing manners. Her vehicle is the Tremont Theatre and her every appearance is greeted with loads of passengers regulated only by the walls of the playhouse. There are no limit laws to retard the speed of this fast-moving entertainment and the result is a breezy two hours' joy ride that fairly takes one's breath away with its surprising novelty. A trip to the moon on a ride on the fall of Halley's comet are graveyard parties compared with the diversion in store for anyone paying a visit to "The Girl in the Taxi." The matinee begins at 2 o'clock and the evening performance at 8 sharp. No advance has been made in the regular Tremont Theatre prices. If you wish to see a screaming sensation, full of laughter, with dashes of spice, don't fail to signal "The Girl in the Taxi." She will make you forget your blues, your taxes and your heavy gas bills.

Castle Square Theatre—There will be both novelty and excitement in "Brewster's Millions," which the John Craig Stock Company will act at the Castle Square next week. Brewster has just inherited a million and more from his grandfather, when his uncle leaves him ten millions on condition that he spend his first legacy within a year. Brewster may not throw the money into the river, or give away to the poor, or gamble it into the air. He must spend it and tell nobody why he is doing so. In the Castle Square production of "Brewster's Millions," the heir who spends and gains a fortune will be played by John Craig, while other important roles will be in the hands of Mary Young, Gertrude Binley, Mabel Colcord, W. F. Carleton, Walter Walker, Donald Meek, George Hassell, Bert and Wilfred Young. The play will hold the Castle Square stage but a single week.

Boston Opera House—The seventh and final week of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Boston Opera House will possess more than the usual variety, for two different offerings will be given, one for the first half and the other for the last half of the week. The four performances: Monday and Tuesday nights and Wednesday matinee and night, will be given to a double bill including Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci," two of the most popular of the shorter grand operas. The four performances of the latter half of the week, starting Monday, May 30, "The Mikado" will be the bill for the second week, with other works of the same calibre to follow.

BIG CIRCUS.

Announcement is made that on the week starting Monday, May 30, the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will visit Boston with an entire new equipment which cost the management $3,500,000.

The main performance is given in three rings, on two stages, on an immense Roman race track and in the dome. The climax of the program is the appalling performance of Desperado, a mad Frenchman, who leaps from the dome of the tent and lands on his bare chest. Additional thrills are given by Jupiter, a pure-white Arabian horse. It rides to the dome of the tent in a balloon and descends amid a Niagara of exploding rockets and fireworks.

In the menagerie is found the most remarkable zoological exhibit ever seen outside of the interior of the African jungle. It is Bumbino, the first and only baby giraffe ever born or exhibited in America.

On the list of performers are the names of 400 of the world's most talented performers.

NEWTON CENTRE PLAYGROUND NOTES.

The tennis courts are ready. Married men and single men meet in a baseball game tomorrow.

The Mason School tennis tournament will be started Wednesday, May 25. Girls should make their entries with Eleanor Dodd and the boys with Albert Spence.

The track is now to be put in shape and will be ready in a week for training in the sprints.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Playground and Social Service League was held on Monday night. Except for the re-elected retirement of Mr. W. E. Parker as representative from the school committee and the nomination of Mr. Alvord to his place, there is no change in the make up of the executive committee. William H. Rice will now represent the Improvement Association on the board and A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., takes Mr. Ricke's place as treasurer.

Annual membership dues are now payable, and all residents are urged to record their interest in the work of the league by sending contributions of one dollar or over to Fredrick G. Melcher, chairman of the membership committee.

HIGHLANDS—Mr. Nicholas O. Cline passed away after a long illness Thursday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles T. Noble, on Lincoln street, aged 76 years. The funeral services take place this Friday afternoon at the Cline Memorial Church and the body will be taken to Frederick, Md., for burial.

Through the kindness of Mr. Charles M. Howell of Newtonville the high school baseball squad has been supplied with ten complete uniforms. This was done previous to the time that the athletic committee fits out the men who have been chosen for the team, so that this year the school will be saved considerable expense.

Thayer Academy defeated Newton High, 4 to 2, Friday. Injuries necessitated the playing of a pitcher in right field, another at second base and a substitute at short, for Newton. In the third inning McCourt threw his arm out and Gaw was called in to pitch, Brooks, a catcher, going into the field.

It was a pitchers' battle throughout. Willard struck out 16 men, while Gaw fanned nine and McCourt 6 in the brief time he worked. In the ninth Allen, Thayer's pitcher, sustained a bad injury to his hand that will keep him out of the game for the rest of the season.

In the last session Newton got men on second and third, but the next batters were easy outs.

MANY HEARINGS

For nearly an hour on Monday evening the regular session of the Board of Aldermen was occupied with various hearings.

Mr. C. A. Sylvester, general manager of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company, favored the petition of that company for a track location on Walnut street, near Homer street. Mr. Sylvester said they desired to put in a side track to their property on Walnut street in order to handle supplies. The track had formerly been there, but had been removed.

Considerable opposition appeared on orders for sewers in Oakland and Evergreen avenues, Auburndale. James Aspinwall said he owned land at the junction of two streets and would have a frontage assessment of over 400 feet on two streets. He thought that such land had only ought to have an assessment on one street. A letter was also read from M. J. Pratt in opposition. Mr. Swan Norton said there was no need for a sewer, but there was for a street. There are not many houses and he has no trouble with his cesspool. Mr. Edward Z. Spurr said he had lived there nearly 40 years. The Board of Health claims there should be a sewer in the street. Mr. Spurr said in answer to questions that it cost $5 to clean out his cesspool and that it had been cleaned out four or five times.

Mr. Louis Ballett favored the petition of the Edison Company for poles on Forest avenue and he and his neighbors wished electric lights in their houses.

On the petition of the Telephone Company for attachments on Arlington street, Mr. H. S. Allen for the company said that since leave to withdraw had been given on their petition for poles to reach this street, permission to cross private land had been refused, and the owner had also ordered the Edison Company to remove poles they now had on his land. This left two applicants for service in bad shape, with no means of reaching them for either telephone or light service. Letters of remonstrance were read from H. W. Burr and W. S. Edmunds.

Mr. W. F. Bacon appeared in opposition to petition of the Telephone Company for poles on Cross street, representing Mr. John H. Leah, who had property assessed for $31,500 on the corner of this street. The street is only 28 feet wide at one end and but five feet wider at the other, and poles would be a danger to the public. This matter is not one of public necessity but of convenience to the company and should not be granted.

Mr. E. T. Wiswall said that there was no necessity for poles, that the street was too narrow. The company had poles on his land near Parsons street. The wires ought to be underground. Mr. Wiswall said he also represented Mrs. G. H. Trowbridge. Mr. A. L. Kershaw entered a protest for Kershaw as five poles would make the street dangerous for vehicles on account of the obstructions in the street.

Mr. E. A. Marsh saw nothing to be gained by these poles and said the city had recently removed a hitching post, four inches in diameter, because it was an obstruction in the street.

On petition of the Telephone Company for poles on Woodbine street a letter of protest was read from R. W. Moir.

Hearings were also held upon petitions of C. H. Milliken for a five horsepower gas engine on Prospect street, of the Edison Company for attachments on Centre street, of the Telephone Company for attachments on Newbury street, Forest avenue, Dedham street, Walnut street and pole locations on Henshaw street, River street and Needham street, at which no one appeared. Hearings held on petitions to keep gasoline of S. E. Blanchard, Lenox street; C. L. Berry, Cherry street; F. W. Dorr, Lake avenue; Gannon Bros., River street, and J. E. Rockwood, Beacon street, were postponed until June 6, Alderman Doherty stating that proper legal notice had not been given. No one appeared on the matter of widening Chestnut street at Pennsylvania avenue and the order was subsequently adopted.

Alderman Chadbourne was designated to draw eight jurors for Cambridge Criminal Court and these names came out of the box: Burdett P. Mansfield, Newtonville avenue; Joseph H. Adams, Jefferson street; Albert J. Johnson, Court street; Clarence V. Moore, Wesley street; Frank B. Hopewell, Billings Park; Ralph C. Henry, Wachusett road, and J. Harris Aublin, Copley street.

Dowd for renewal of auctioneer licenses, of Masten & Wells Fireworks Company to make trial discharges of fireworks on Needham street, of the Ladies' Sewing Circle, Universalist Church, to hold dancing exhibition on May 21 were granted. Leave to withdraw was granted on petition of Sarah Campbell for common victualer license on Watertown street.

Orders were also adopted for sewers in Glenmore terrace, Pine Ridge road and Harrington street, authorizing advance of $7500 for moth work, and granting $50,031 for city expenses to June 15. In passing the last mentioned order, Alderman Cox raised the question as to the proper term for the appropriation used for street sprinkling, or laying dust, and after a few amendments had been made and rescinded, it was finally concluded to keep the title of "street sprinkling" as stated in the annual budget.

An order was also adopted on motion of Alderman Heard, authorizing the city clerk to give legal notice of hearings on all petitions for pole locations and for attachments of wires. The board adjourned at 9:50 o'clock.

NEWTON, MASS., FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1910.

$1,000. FIRE

A fire which broke out early last Saturday morning in the Vendome bakery, conducted by Arthur E. Stoddard, at 358 Centre street, Newton, would have had serious results had it not been discovered in time. As it was, the damage was over $1,000 and several families were given a bad scare. Mrs. Moore, the wife of Ellis E. Moore, the well-known photographer, who lives over the bakery, was awakened about 1:45 o'clock and was horrified, on looking out of the window, to see the flames breaking out of the building below.

Mr. Moore hastened to the telephone, while Mrs. Moore opened the front window and called for assistance. Patrolman J. D. Ryan, who had smelled smoke in that vicinity and was searching for the fire, heard the call and rushed to the scene.

The buildings are among the oldest in that part of the city and are close to the depressed tracks of the Boston & Albany, so that the firemen had hard work in getting at the blaze. The smoke was so dense that it filled the Whitman, a brick apartment building next door, and the police aroused the families here and hurried them out to the street.

The fire was under control after an hour's hard work. The cause was said to be an overheated stove which set fire to the woodwork. Mr. Stoddard lost the Saturday supply of baked beans and brown bread and considerable bread dough, all of which is covered by insurance. The smoke also did some damage to the store of S. K. Ames and to the upholstery shop of Vincent All. The buildings are owned by Mr. John S. Sumner.

LOGGERS.

In Temple Hall last Friday evening under the auspices of Palestine Chapter, O. E. S., John H. Westfall, U. S. N., who was one of the officers of the lost flagship Trenton, gave a lecture on "The Lost Fleet at Samoa." A program was given consisting of songs by Mr. Edward Baxter Felton and recitations by Mr. Bruce Wallace. Dancing followed, music being by the Hayden Trio.

A whist party and dance under the auspices of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., was held in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, Thursday evening. King's Orchestra provided the music.

Congressman Weeks certainly has the courage of his convictions and we rather admire him for standing up for his opinions even when in our judgment they are wrong.—Waltham Free Press Tribune.

BASE BALL

Monday, May 30, opens the Preparatory League games on Claffin Field, Newtonville. Newton High plays Brookline High and a 15-inning game may be expected as both of the teams are out for blood. Brookline won the championship last year through the courtesy of Newton High. This year we are going to take it away from them. Our battery on Monday morning, May 30, is Gaw and Brooks.

Just to whet our appetite we are going to clean up Waltham tomorrow afternoon on Claffin Field. Let all Newton rooters come and root. We have a strong team and want the attention of every baseball fan in Newton. Come and root.

Baseball Committee, N. H. S.

PLAY CONGRESS.

At the Play Congress in Rochester June 7 to 11, a special committee will report on the best forms of playground administration for the playground systems in various cities. In some communities playgrounds are being maintained by the school board, in others the park board or other boards, in some by special commissions, and in others by private enterprise. Report will be made as to how the various plans have worked. There will likewise be a special report on the subject of recreation buildings, their cost and their advantages.

At the same congress Frederick Thompson, who designed and built Luna Park, Coney Island, and the Hippodrome, New York city, will discuss the question of clean, wholesome amusement for the people, and how such amusement can be made more profitable than an entertainment of a questionable kind. There are few cities where the amusement problem is not a real one. Newton is getting to have it in a large measure, and especially in relation to the amusement resorts of neighboring cities.

Great efforts are being made by the Rochester committee to provide for the entertainment of those who attend the congress. The parks and playgrounds will be open and all the opportunities therein can be taken advantage of—boating, swimming, tramping, games, etc. Ten thousand children will take part in a great Play Festival, to be held in Genesee Valley Park, where also will be held a great water carnival. Many dinner parties have been arranged and Friday evening a large banquet, where tables will be reserved for the delegates representing municipalities. Folk dances will be given at some time during the congress.

Another most interesting subject which will be treated of is the way in which playgrounds pay for themselves by increasing land values. There is a remarkable consensus of opinion on this subject by some of the leading real estate operators of the country.

CONCERTS.

The Newton Boat Club has arranged for a series of four promenade concerts to be held on Saturday evenings, June 4, 11, 18 and 25. The music will be provided by the Boston Philharmonic Club.

MINSTRELS

The tenth annual minstrel show given by the Nonantum Athletic Association, the senior department of the Nonantum Boys' Club, at the Hunnewell Club Wednesday evening, was complimentary to the Newton friends and was the most artistic and enjoyable performance ever presented. The training of other years was well as for this performance was noticeable and some of the work was as good as that done by professionals. The stage was draped with American flags and the company were white face with the exception of the end men. The circle was made up as follows: Interlocutor, Edwin O. Childs, Jr.; tambos, Guy Myers, John Kershaw, Charles Shea, Louis Tabaldi, Jr., John Leonard, Alfred Hotin; chorus, W. Hanson, J. Antonelli, A. Landry, A. Bennett, A. Harrington, A. Chasson, G. Bourrot, E. Rothford, G. Blake, J. Langill, F. Bondrot, P. Sampson, W. House, W. Bondrot, H. Hotin, J. Dangelo, M. Dargon, G. Bergen, W. Beale, W. Tead and R. Deverlix. Mr. Frederick B. Munroe was musical director and Mrs. Munroe pianist.

The program consisted of "Opening Chorus," arranged by Mr. Munroe and introducing "Fluff a Da Ruff," an Italian dialect song, by Joseph Antonelli; end song, "Cubanoa Gilde," John Kershaw; end song, "Hot Dog Man," Alfred Hotin; ballad, Arthur Scouler; end song, "Alexander Jones," John Leonard; end song, "Abraham Lincoln Jones," Charles Shea; ballad, "To the End of the World With You," William Hanson; end song, "H. A. S. H.," Louis Tabaldi, Jr.; end song, "That's a Plenty," Guy Myers; closing chorus, "Dixie Land, I Love You," solo by George Blake. The program was full of local hits and the clever monologues by Mr. E. Stanley Nichols brought forth much applause. The entertainment ended with some songs by the Nonantum Athletic Association Quartet, consisting of Messrs. Blake, Antonelli, Tabaldi and Hotin.

THE POLYMNIA.

On Tuesday evening, May 31, the Polytnia gives its last musical of the season to its associate members and guests. The program is to be almost entirely music of modern French composers. To get several of the numbers—choruses by Massenet, Chaminade, Les Delibes—the club was obliged to send to the Paris publishers. They have proved thoroughly interesting and well worth study, making by far the most ambitious program the Polytnia has ever presented. Assisting artists, Miss Emily Hayden, soprano; Mr. Richard P. Law, pianist, and the Greg String Trio.

This being the first musical since the Polytnia entered the Federation of Women's Clubs, representatives of several of the clubs are expected to be present.

Notwithstanding the dubious weather of last Saturday, there was a large attendance of relatives and friends to witness the annual prize drill of the Laeell Battalion at Auburndale. The drill was held in the natural amphitheatre back of the main school building. From trees and houses were hung banners of the company colors, yellow and white for Company A, red and white for Company B, blue and white for Company C, and green and white for Company D. Toy balloons of these shades were everywhere in evidence and a band intermingled martial and popular airs from the steps of the gymnasium.

The judges at the drill were Major George I. Canfield of the Eighth Massachusetts Infantry, Major William H. Perry of the same regiment and Captain Perry L. Burrill of the ordnance department of the Commonwealth. In addition a noted guest was Col. Louis B. Goodall of Sanford, Me., a member of the Governor's council of that state and the father of Cadet Adjutant Mildred B. Goodall. He made the presentation of the prizes after the drill and warmly praised the girls for the excellence of their work.

The blue guidon which is annually awarded to the winning company went to Company A for the second consecutive year. In the senior individual competition the silver medal was awarded Cadet Captain Reva L. Berman of San Antonio, Texas. The first junior prize was won by Marie A. Mills of Patchogue, N. Y., a private in Company A, while second prize was given to Elizabeth M. Brandow of Albany, N. Y., a member of Company D. The closing feature was the battalion parade which was in charge of Major Ina M. McLean.

PARK CO. WINS.

Eather Casey, 13 years old, of 39 Circuit street, Roxbury, lost her suit for $10,000 against the Norumbega Park Company for injuries resulting from her having been bitten by a bear at the park.

She was feeding a big bear and a little bear with peanuts. The big bear was eating all of them so she jumped over a railing and went up to the cage, where she threw more peanuts near the little bear.

The big bear grabbed her hand and bit her five times. The accident happened Aug. 15, 1907. The little girl went to the park with another girl of her own age and her grandmother. The children went alone to the bear cage.

When Children Smoked.

Joretin de Rochefort, who published in Paris in 1671 an account of his travels in England, tells the following: "While we were walking about the town (Worcester) he asked me if it was the custom in France as in England that when the children went to school they carried in their satchel with their books a pipe of tobacco, which their mothers took care to fill early in the morning. It serving them instead of breakfast, and that at the accustomed hour every one laid aside his book to light his pipe, the master smoking with them and teaching them how to hold their pipes and draw in the tobacco."

In England at the time of the great plague it was reported that no one living in a tobaccoist's house fell sick of the disease. This caused a great demand for tobacco. Hearne says in his diary, "I remember that I heard formerly Tom Rogers, who was yeoman here, say that when he was a school-boy at Eton that year when the plague raged all the boys of that school were obliged to smoke every morning and that he was never whipped so much in his life as he was one morning for not smoking."

In the Nick of Time.

The steamer was on the point of leaving, and the passengers lounged on the deck and waited for the start. At length one of these espied a cab in the far distance, and it soon became evident that the driver was doing his level best to catch the boat.

Already the sailors' hands were on the gangways, and the cab's chances looked small indeed. Then a sportive passenger wandered a sovereign to a shilling that he would miss it. The offer was taken, and at once the deck became a scene of wild excitement.

"He'll miss it!"
"No; he'll just do it!"
"Come on!"
"He won't do it!"
"Yes, he will. He's done it! Hurrah!"

In the very nick of time the cab arrived, its occupant sprang out and ran up the one gangway left.

"Cast off!" he cried.

It was the captain.—Pearson's Weekly.

An East Indian Verdict.

In a case in one of our Indian courts a jury had before it evidence that could not be in any way shaken. When the concluding stage had been reached the following interchange of conversation took place between the judge and his colleagues in the administration of justice:

"Gentlemen, are you ready to give your verdict?"

"Yes."

"What is your verdict?"

"Our answer is, sir, that you can do as you like with the men that have confessed, but we acquit all the rest."

"But is it possible that you have weighed the evidence?"

"Evidence like this can always be fabricated."

"Do you find that as regards these prisoners it has been fabricated?"

"Evidence can be fabricated."

"So the evidence is untrustworthy?"

"Unless a man confesses who can tell he is guilty?"—Bombay Gazette.

The Fun of the Farce.

It is related that the manager of a theater consented to hear in his room a young man who had an unfortunate impediment in his speech read a short farce, the sole condition being that it should not occupy more time than it took to finish the cigar the manager had just lit. They both started, the one reading, the other smoking, but as the mild Havana gradually grew shorter the worse the young author spluttered. They finished together. Of course the question was immediately put, "What do you think of it?"

"Well," replied the manager, "it's not a half bad idea. Father, mother, lover, daughter, all stuttering, will be novel!"

The author, furious, exclaimed: "They don't stutter! It is only my misfortune."

"Oh, then, the play isn't funny at all! Sorry that I can't accept it," returned the manager.

The tall man came into her little blue kitchen and looked over the shelves which were just beneath the level of his head, but above hers. He ran his finger over one shelf, then showed it to her. It was pretty black.

"You are a nice housekeeper," he said.

"This kitchen wasn't made for tall people," she explained flatteringly. "It was made for little ones."—New York Press.

Crude Logic.

It is told of an East Indian law student that he once threw his examiners into confusion by declaring matrimony to be an illegal state. "How so? How so?" he was asked by the perturbed examiners, many of them married men. The student smiled beatifically. "Marriage," quoth he, "is a lottery, and lotteries are forbidden by law."

A Frequent Insincerity.

"The man's own words prove him a prevaricator," said Mr. Quibbles.

"In what way?"

"He writes me an insulting letter and signs it 'Yours respectfully.'"—Washington Star.

Politics.

Novice—They tell me that a man can't go into politics and remain honest. Old Stager—Yes, he can. But it isn't necessary.—Chicago Tribune.

Success doesn't "happen." It is organized, pre-empted, captured by concentrated common sense.—Frances E. Willard.

There were present at this concert members of the York Oratorio Society, and the Schubert Choir, York, Penn., who expressed themselves delighted with the work, and the performance. The difficult choruses, 'Great is Diana of the Ephesians' and the 'Amen' were given with grand effect." This oratorio was produced in Philadelphia last Christmas by a large society and the Philadelphia Orchestra. While the music is somewhat more difficult than his last oratorio, "Emmanuel," it is steadily growing in demand and popularity throughout the country. Written in 1893.

The evils of riches are seldom manifest to those who possess them.

A Far Look.

Three visitors traveling in the Isle of Man thought they would visit Snafell, the king of Manx mountains. When walking up toward the mountain they espied an old shepherd coming toward them. They thought they would take a rise out of him, so one accosted him, saying:

"They tell me, old man, you can see England, Scotland, Ireland and even as far as America from the top of this mountain."

"Oh, yes!" said the old man. "If you will come with me I will show you much farther than America."

So, chuckling to themselves, they decided to follow him. After trudging for about half an hour up the mountain side in a boiling sun they began to feel rather fatigued and kept asking the shepherd how much farther they had to go.

He kept urging them on a little farther until at last the three visitors lay down on the grass and said they would go no farther for any sight.

"Now," said the old man, "if you will sit here long enough you will see the moon."

Buried on His Horse.

Lord Dacre, who died fighting for the Lancastrians at Towton, England, in 1461, directed that if he were killed in the battle his favorite war horse should be buried in the same grave with him.

According to his wishes, when his interment took place in Saxon church yard after the battle a tremendous grave was dug, and in it the warrior was buried, seated upright on his horse. For centuries reflections were cast upon the accuracy of this tradition, but some years ago while excavations were being made close by the reputed burial place of Lord Dacre the plek of a digger struck into a great bone, and upon further search being made the skull of a big horse was brought to the surface. As this was found almost at the very spot under which the body of Lord Dacre was said to lie it was accepted as confirmation of the tradition, particularly as the skull was found to be standing vertically in the soil. The skull was replaced carefully in its original position and the excavation filled up.

Too Risky.

In boring for oil when the drill reaches the depth where it allows gas to escape every precaution is taken against igniting it lest there should be a destructive explosion. This necessary precaution gives point to the following story, told by a writer in the Pittsburg News:

"I can deal with men," growled a grizzled oil driller, "but a woman can outdo the best of us."

"I brought in a well in Virginia right close to the kitchen door of a little farmhouse. Just as we were getting to the ticklish point, where smoking wasn't allowed within forty rods, out comes the farmer's wife and goes to building a big fire in a Dutch oven."

"Mebby I didn't kick, but she just showed me a batch of dough an' said if she didn't bake it 'twould spoil. If I wanted the fire out I had got to pay for the dough—ten dollars too. She just dared me to touch that Dutch oven, an' I didn't touch it either. I just gave her the ten."

"Mebby we didn't get that fire out quick. If the well had broken loose it would have blown me an' the whole farmhouse out of sight."

"No, sir; I don't want any more dealings with women. They're too risky."

Spider Web as a Styptic.

A spider's web, an old cure for bleeding, is an uncleanly application, as it is generally procured from the most neglected corner in a room and is consequently laden with dust. The earliest reference to this remedy in our language seems to be in a translation of that curious encyclopedic work of the middle ages "De Proprietatibus Reum," where we read, "Coppa webbe that is white and cleane staunchyth blood." But as I have seen it applied to a cut finger it has been anything but white and clean. There is another reference in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," when Bottom, the weaver, says to the fairy Cobweb, "I shall desire of you more acquaintance, good master Cobweb; if I cut my finger I shall make bold with you."

As a styptic, however, it must be ac-knowledgeed a spider's web as somewhat effective. In a case of excessive hemorrhage after the extraction of a tooth a dentist applied a cobweb with most satisfactory results.—Hospital.

Military Rats.

An old military dictionary tells us that rats were sometimes used in war for the purpose of firing powder magazines by means of lighted matches tied to their tails. We cannot offhand recall any historical instance of this, but presumably it did occur, seeing that Marshall Vauban laid down special rules for counteracting it. Anyhow, the dodge is as old as Samson, who,
you may recall, used foxes in a similar way for a somewhat similar purpose.

As to the royal rat catcher, we may add that he had a special official livery. According to Pennant's "British Zoology," it consisted of a scarlet costume, embroidered with yellow worsted, in which were figures of mice destroying wheat sheaves. By the way, rats were not the only animals honored with a special catcher. Leicester, for instance, used to pay a yearly salary of £1 11s.
6d. to its municipal mole catcher.—

The Man-of-war Bird.

The frigate pelican, or man-of-war bird, is usually met with by travelers in the tropics. Although when stripped of its feathers it is hardly larger than a pigeon, yet no man can touch at the same time the tips of its extended wings. The long wing bones are exceedingly light, and the whole apparatus of air cells is extremely developed, so that its real weight is very trifling. It flies at a great height above the water and from that elevation pounces down on fish, especially preferring the poor, persecuted flying fish for its prey. According to some authors, the name of man-of-war bird was given to it because its appearance was said to foretell the coming of a ship, probably because the frigate pelican and real frigates are equally adverse to storms, and both like to come into harbor if the weather threatens.

Drinking and Smoking in Korea.

The Koreans are inveterate smokers of green tobacco, which they use in pipes with tiny bowls and stems two or three feet long. They stick their pipes down the back of the neck when not using them.

There is a deal of drinking, too, though they have many proverbs against it—"Heaven and earth are too small for a drunken man." "White whisky makes a red face." "There is no bottom to the appetite for drink."

Broke.

They were drinking soda in the Gen-tlewoman's club.

"I wish," said the fat one with gray hair, "that you could break my daughter Nell of bridge."

The young one in pink smiled faintly. "I did break her last night," she said.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Judicial.

"Prosy old Judge Talbot got hold of Synthe the other day and treated the poor fellow to a regular judicial proceeding."

"What was it?"

"First he arrested his progress and then he tried his patience."—Baltimore American.

THE NEW EDUCATION INTERESTING SPEECHES AT NEWTON CENTRE

The public meeting arranged by the educational committee of the Playground and Social Service League, and held on Monday evening in the hall of the Mason School, Newton Centre, was well attended, over 200 persons being present. Mr. Alfred E. Alvord, a member of the school committee from Ward 6, presided and there were interesting speeches from Mr. James P. Munroe, chairman of the educational committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce; Superintendent of Schools Spaulding of Newton, Mr. Charles L. Kirschner, master of the Technical High School; Mr. Michael Murray, supervisor of manual training, and Mr. S. B. Paul, master of the Mason School.

Following the speeches the meeting was opened for public discussion, but it was evident that the audience came to hear and not to speak, for no one took the opportunity offered by the chairman.

We are enabled to give two of the speeches in full, that of Mr. Munroe and that of Mr. Paul.

Mr. S. B. Paul.

Mr. Paul said:
We desire to have our children enjoy even more of the good things of life than we have had. This can be accomplished only by keeping our country prosperous. At the present time the industrial supremacy of the United States is seriously threatened. As citizens and as parents we are interested in the great question of the day—How to Preserve the Industrial Supremacy of Our Country. Legislation can do practically nothing. The solution of the problem lies wholly in the superior intelligence and skill of the rising generation. The only way yet discovered of securing this superior intelligence and skill is through more education for the masses—school education—but not of the kind in vogue for the past 25 years as that has failed to appeal to the masses, and, moreover, was not designed to meet the conditions of this century.

There is no comparison between the intelligence of the graduate from university or technology and the graduate from the elementary school; nor yet, other things being equal, between the intelligence and skill of the graduate from a high school offering technical training and one who has not had this four years' training in book and technical lines. Our aim, then, should be to get all our boys and girls to take the higher education along lines suited to their interests and talents.

According to late figures out of 127 entering the public schools only one reaches college; the other 126 fall by the wayside, most of them with no special preparation for doing effective work. The figures concerning the class of 1908, Newton High School, as given in the last superintendent's report, show that only 34 per cent of those beginning the course in the primary school completed even the high school course. Probably no other high school graduating class in the country can show such good results. But even here two drop out for every one that continues through the high school. Even in Newton we are not doing very much to give to the mass of our pupils the superior education that makes for the superior intelligence and skill that will preserve our supremacy in the face of the remarkable efforts now being made by leading nations to wrest it from us.

A system that reaches but one-third of the pupils is not truly successful. That must be changed to two-thirds, at least. Much has been done this year through the broadening of the work of the high school so that future craftsmen as well as professional and business men may there receive appropriate education. This will cause great increase in the numbers receiving the better education, but it will not entirely cure conditions that exist. The broadening has begun at the wrong end and can affect only those who reach the high school at the proper time, losing entirely the multitude who now never enter the high school, or else enter it too late to do much work there. Something must be done in the elementary schools to reach the great majority who at present are failing to get the education necessary to make themselves most successful and to keep our country in the first rank.

In Newton conditions are better than in nearly all other communities, but even here we are falling. We have large numbers of pupils who, not taking kindly to academic education, having no interest in it—possibly no aptitude for it—do not complete the grammar school course or do not go beyond it because they have been held back until they feel that they are too old to continue in school with children so much younger than themselves.

We have in Newton quite completely broken the lock step that made it impossible for pupils to shorten their elementary school course. Today pupils who have a special aptitude in academic lines are permitted to do the elementary work in seven or eight years instead of nine. This will result in a higher education for many who, if obliged to take the entire nine years could not see their way clear to enter the high school.

We are this year graduating 86 pupils from the Mason School. Just about one-half have done the required work in eight years. During the past two years approximately 75 pupils have received special promotion, which means the gaining of a year in the elementary school. Of this number only one has failed to make good, though I feel that in three other cases we were unwise in promoting pupils who had exceptional ability in book work, but who did not have the maturity to warrant promotion.

Newton is to be congratulated in having a school system in which so many pupils can progress at the rate of speed that is possible for them. However, we have not yet reached perfection in this, for promotion at the present time depends entirely upon ability in book work. No credit is given for extra ability in other lines, and many of our really bright pupils are held back because their brightness is not in academic work.

It is not at all necessary for a boy's success in life that he do the grammar school work as now carried out. The demands of our course are now such as will benefit most those pupils that will specialize in study of books. If a boy does not take to books he can, nevertheless, without loss of time—as is now the case—be given an excellent elementary school education, one fully sufficient for his needs. Much arithmetic, useless to him, can be dropped, much technical grammar eliminated, also much of the, to him, dry and useless details of history. The result of modifying the demands in these subjects, and some others, will be that, seeing his power to really do the work with a reasonable degree of ease, he will be interested to do that work well. If this is done he can find time to do technical work, over which he is enthusiastic, for which he has aptitude, and in which he excels.

The pupil develops more skill and more common sense in technical work than in book work; learns fully as well, and in most cases better, the lessons valuable in after life—such lessons as carefulness and persistent application, and trains as well such faculties as memory, reason and imagination. Then he should be given full credit for work done in printing, woodworking, designing, etc., and should be promoted just as are those promoted now who develop through book work alone.

In our eighth and ninth grades 40 per cent of the pupils will, when school begins next September, be over 15 years old, ranging from 15 years 4 months to over 17 years. In many cases this is too old for pupils to enter the high school next fall or a year later as the case may be, and certainly too old for another year to be spent profitably in the grammar school. All of these pupils, so far as I am able to judge, have approximately as much ability as their classmates who are two or three years younger. Why, then, are they here? Simply because we have never allowed them to exercise their talents, giving them credit for results therein.

Next year, I propose, with the consent of the superintendent, to give such pupils opportunity to do technical work that they can do and like to do, so far as I am able under unfavorable conditions, at the same time giving them all necessary academic training, that they may get into the high school in time to do the vocational work there offered, which will fit them for doing work requiring superior skill and intelligence, which work they would be unable to do if they were held back in the elementary school and obliged to do without the splendid high school training.

At the present time we have boys from grades four, five and six beginning to work with their brains and hands in the sloyd room, even though the regular sloyd course does not begin until the seventh grade. These boys need, according to the individual, to form the habit of work, to gain control of the muscles, or to quicken nervous activity—needs that

The vaudeville program for the week beginning with the holiday, May 30, are: Terrell's dog and pony circus, with the unrivaleable mule, Maud; the Majestic Musical Four, in their comedy musical act; the Brockways, the challenge dancers; Valvane and LaMore, comedy acrobats, and new moving pictures. The action of the House of Representatives in refusing to allow the people to pass on the proposed amendment to the constitution to pave the way for better taxation laws and in which it is said to note that Representative White of this city voted with the majority, is a matter of deep regret to everyone at all cognizant of the subject of taxation.
It is a well-known fact that Massachusetts laws are faulty in construction and inadequate in scope and cannot fail to hamper the business and moral growth of the state. Our laws governing the taxation of personal property, and their administration, are unequal, unjust and therefore unwise. The heaviest taxpayer in Newton last year has changed his legal residence for the present year, because our local assessors raised the valuation of his personal estate. Another wealthy citizen has taken up his residence elsewhere for the same reason, and while he may not object to the amount of the assessment, he feels that he has been unjustly treated because his neighbors, possibly of equal wealth, are not taxed as heavily as he. The passage of the proposed tax amendment, while not insuring a tax millennium, at least would have allowed an opportunity to equalize some of the present in-congruities of the law. For one thing, it would have allowed the state to make a uniform rate for assessment for personal property throughout the Commonwealth, and thereby put a stop to the present method of tax dodging, by claiming a legal residence in some small community, whose low tax rate invites the presence of the wealthy citizen. It might also have allowed for a state assessment of personal property, thereby preventing the present methods of trading with local assessors by wealthy men, who virtually dictate what their own personal valuation shall be in the community. These two plans, alone, offer so many strong arguments that it is difficult to see why a vague sense of alarm as to the possible escape of personal property under the proposed amendment should have prevailed.

The educational meeting at Newton Centre on Monday evening was of great interest to parents and all others interested in the important subjects under discussion, and I believe the ideas advanced will receive prompt and hearty acceptance in this city. The financial situation alone remains to be considered, when it is proposed to reduce the size of classes, to add expensive studies to an already overcrowded curriculum, and to otherwise endeavor to reach an educational Utopia, regardless of expense. To those who take a view of the city's needs, more comprehensive than that from the educational standpoint alone, it seems that if it is desirable to adopt the newer education, it ought to be done by enrolling some of the old methods, rather than by calling for an additional sum from the taxpayers. It is admitted that but 34 per cent of our children complete the full educational course and it would seem that if the 66 per cent need more inducements and facilities, it should be provided from the amounts now expended for the benefit of the 34 per cent. Taxpayers of Newton should realize that the present year is no time to increase the burdens of taxation for the action of the state in seizing our income from corporation taxes, and in increasing the amount of the state tax, will add at least one dollar to our present tax rate and the city will be considered fortunate if the next tax rates is much less than $20 per thousand. I am well aware that any criticism of school expenses renders the critic liable to be called an enemy of the children, but it is no more than good common sense to call attention to existing facts, and to advocate the strictest economy, even in matters of education.

The aldermen have just given their approval to some elaborate plans for improving the approaches to the Technical High School at an expense of nearly $6000. While a building, which represents an outlay of over $400,000 should, it is true, have adequate and dignified surroundings, it is not at all necessary to spend nearly $1000 for concreting the walks on Walnut street, or a portion of the sidewalk on Elm road, which is some distance from the school building. Besides the fact that there is no reason connected with the new building which calls for this expenditure, it is possible that the large piece of land on Walnut street and Elm road, which this new walk bounds, may be used in the future for other municipal buildings, and call for even better treatment than is now proposed.

Our neighbor, the Waltham Free Press Tribune, has recently expressed its views on the suggestion to change the government of that city to the so-called "commission" plan, and comes to the conclusion that the best results would be obtained by doubling the size of the City Council, rather than by cutting it to one-third.

orial Day and help their conscripted work with gifts of flowers.

We seem unable to supply through regular classroom lessons. I believe that I can see my way clear to make better educated boys out of them and in less time than if they could not have this opportunity granted to them. In every case there is a special reason for giving this technical work. It is expected in each case to accomplish a definite, foreseen result. As I have said—in other words, I see a prospect of making them candidates for promotion when they would not be candidates under the usual grammar school mode of procedure.

I desire especially to call your attention to the fact that pupils who call for a modification of our ordinary school course are not mentally deficient. They are anything but that. They are the ones who, many of them, will make our successful financiers, business men, engineers and mechanics, of the next generation. They are the ones who will do their full share towards keeping our country in the lead.

To carry on this work as it ought to be done we need in Newton Centre more equipment than is furnished by our one sloyd room and our little printing establishment, and we need another teacher. You parents should demand this, and be willing to support it, provided that you believe in more education for the majority, who do not now receive it—and if you believe in developing to the full the different talents possessed by different individuals.

We need also co-operation of citizens in a way quite new here. Suppose that a boy, doing the modified academic work before mentioned and the technical work, is especially devoted to continuing his work in electricity. A man in the electrical business might find it possible to allow that boy to work with him on certain afternoons. If the boy wishes to master printing, some publisher here might find a way to let the boy spend some time working in his establishment. The intelligence and skill developed here to count toward promotion—the same as his increased knowledge of mathematics and English. I cannot fully explain the details of the plan now, but I hope later to be allowed to discuss the subject with some of you who may help in this movement without inconvenience to yourselves, but with great advantage to certain promising boys.

Mr. James P. Munroe.

Mr. Munroe spoke as follows, his subject being

The New Demand in Education.

The new demand in education, as in everything else, is for efficiency—physical efficiency, mental efficiency, moral efficiency.

The boys and girls in our schools are the greatest of all our national resources, infinitely more valuable than those natural resources of which we hear so much, and the first and main business of education is to conserve these most precious of all resources.

The potential economic value of every single school pupil, to say nothing of his moral value as a householder and as a citizen, is enormous (mounting into the hundreds of thousands of dollars), provided he is so educated by his family, by his environment and by his schools, as to become an efficient member of society. And to be an efficient member of society the pupil must have a sound body, a clear, well-trained mind, and, above all, a sterling character.

Therefore the supreme business of education is through homes, schools and the community in general, to foster sound bodies, to develop well-trained minds, and to build up strong, self-reliant characters.

How is education going to do this?
By putting 50 or 60 children into uncomfortable desks in an ill-ventilated schoolroom, and then bombarding them with facts? Not at all. To make those 50 or 60 children really efficient, we must get hold of each one of them as an individual problem, finding out where his weak points are, physically, and remedying them; finding out what kind of a mind he has and developing that;
getting at his strong and weak points morally and building out of those a sound and well-developed character.

The first of the new demands in education, therefore, is for small classes, so that the teacher may really know each one of her pupils and may give him, therefore, a true education suited to his special needs and nature.

The second of the new demands is that we shall take much greater account than we now do of the health of the child, by seeing that his eyes, ears, lungs and all the rest of his physical machinery is sound, or is made sound, and that he has plenty of playground, plenty of fresh air and plenty of the right sort of games and plays.

The third of the new demands is that we shall provide genuine educa-tive exercise for the mind of the child by giving it interesting and stimulating work to do; and that we shall not cloy and deaden it with unrelated, uninteresting and unimportant facts.

The fourth of the new demands is that we shall really train all the members of the mind so that he is actually able to use his eyes for seeing and his ears for hearing and his hands for making things that are a credit to the maker. Too many pupils in our schools seem to have no connection between their eyes, their ears, their hands and their brains; so that, as far as efficiency goes, they might just as well be blind, deaf and crippled.

The fifth of the new demands is that education shall put its chief emphasis upon character; that the pupil shall be trained in school and out of school, today and tomorrow and all the time, towards self-reliance, self-control, self-respect and self-denial.

The sixth demand is that the main emphasis of schooling shall be placed on the social side, on preparing the boy and girl, that is, for effective living as a member of society in general and as a citizen of this greatest and most promising of democratic countries.

The seventh demand is that when the pupil gets to be 14 years old, to that age when, if he so wishes, he may leave school, there shall be someone right at his elbow, someone who knows and whom the boy respects, to advise him what to do next.
And the final new demand in education is that from that 14th year up to manhood and womanhood, each and every pupil shall have a wide variety of opportunity for making himself or herself into the best, the most efficient, and therefore the happiest, citizen that it is possible for him to be.

Now I haven't time to talk about small classes, playgrounds, health, manual training and those many other things which, under their various headings, have been suggested; but I do not want to say a few words about that time after 14 years regarding which our education committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, as representing the business men and manufacturers of this part of the country, is particularly interested.

As I have no warrant to speak for my colleagues, I will just give my own views, though I think they would in the main agree with me. I believe, in the first place, that we ought, as fast as possible, to organize vocational direction in all our schools, so that a boy at 14, 16 or 18 or whenever he leaves school, shall have expert advice about what it is best for him to do next. A tremendous majority of boys leaving school simply drift into occupations without knowing anything about them, and without any special fitness for them, so that the world is full of failures, or semi-failures, who are such simply because they happened to get started wrong.

And I would expect those vocational directors to advise, not all boys and girls of 14, but a great majority of them, not to go to work, but to remain at least through the secondary school, and to secure, if possible, some training beyond that of the high school; but I would not expect them to advise this until the opportunities for a real and valuable education beyond 14 years of age, or much more extensive and valuable than they are today.

The ordinary high school, for example, gives at present simply a preparatory training for the narrow and antiquated admission requirements laid down by the colleges, whereas it ought to be a finishing school for pupils who cannot go to college, but who want the best possible preparation for life in those precious four years. It should give, that is, the best training and the most varied training possible to be devised for pupils between 14 and 18 years of age, whose formal education must,
of necessity, stop at the latter age.
There should be offered, therefore,
education in writing, speaking, mathematics, etc., which everybody ought to have; but there should be provided, in addition, a real, efficient business training for those who are to go into mercantile life; a thorough grounding in industrial processes, followed by genuine technical training, for those who are going into the industries; and a complete home-making education to the vast majority of girls who are practically certain some day to have homes of their own.

Moreover, there should be ample provision in our school system for these young people who are not able to give all their time to school work, but who want to get, nevertheless, at least a partial secondary education.
This can be accomplished in various ways, but to my mind the most effective means is through friendly agreement between the manufacturers and the schools and between the business men and the boys, under which the employer gives his employee part time off, without loss of pay, on condition that this released time is spent in school.

We already have a number of excellent agencies dealing with what the English call the continuation school problem, such agencies as your Technical High School evening classes, the Franklin Union, the Lowell School for Industrial Foremen, the Y. M. C. A., etc., but we need many more, and especially do we need closer co-operation between the employers and the schools, so that the former may get better trained young men and women, so that the latter may place their facilities at the command of a lot of splendid material that is now lost to the schools, and so that our youth may secure a higher efficiency as workers and as citizens.

But there is a still further step—and it is one in which the Chamber of Commerce is just now specially interested—and that step is to broaden out the work of our colleges and schools of technology so as to bring at least a part of their educational treasures within reach of the men and women who, while they must work throughout the day, can give two or three evenings, or a Saturday afternoon, to genuine college study.
In the Middle West, as free as the public schools, but they extend their work quite widely through the state.
Here in Massachusetts we do not need a state university, but we do need extension of the splendid facil-

ties of our 17 colleges to those who cannot afford the time or the money to take in the regular way, their four-year course.

Something has already been done in this direction; but, beginning with next fall, Harvard, Boston University, Simmons, Tufts, Wellesley, the M. I.
T., and the Museum of Fine Arts will offer to the public at small fees, a number of courses taught by their regular professors, kept up to the full college standard, and leading to a new college degree, that of Associate in Arts. A large part of the cost of this university extension work will be borne by the Lowell Institute; the balance, I hope, will be guaranteed by members of the Chamber of Commerce and by other generous persons; and there will in this way be inaugurated, I am confident, a notable movement towards supplying higher education, in whole or in part, to all ambitious youth.

These are a few of the new demands in education, together with some hint of how they are being met.
It is a stupendous task; but Massachusetts, which has never yet hesi-tated to respond to the growing needs and ambitions of education, and has seldom failed to keep in the van of progress, will surely not be wanting now.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The Great and General Court is rapidly approaching the end of its labors, most of the important matters having been compromised in committee, or settled by decisive votes. The action of the House in killing the proposed amendment to the constitution to allow for some improvement in our taxation laws, was a great disappointment, as the resolve had been approved by one Legislature and needed but the approval of this General Court to be presented to the people for their action. The resolve did not have a majority of the House, to say nothing of the requisite two-thirds vote required by the constitution, I understand that the argument that there might be another House similar to the present one was what induced many conservative members to vote against the amendment. It is a sad commentary on the low standing of the present House. Representatives Boitfield and Ellis voted for the amendment, and Representative White in opposition.

The House bill to improve the smoke nuisance in the vicinity of Boston, which Representative Boitfield had amended to include Newton, struck a snag when reported to the House, as the Boston Chamber of Commerce flatly refused to support the measure with Newton included in the bill. They said that the bill required the joint approval of their committee and of the public service corporations for a fixed limit of five miles from the State House, and to add Newton to this district would open up the question for many other cities and towns. Mr. Boitfield might have been able to secure the passage of the amended bill, but it would have been hard work and if defeated would have postponed the needed improvement in the Boston district. Mr.
Boitfield received assurances that any improvements in the Brighton district will be continued from Newton, and therefore consented to the passage of the bill without including this city.

All our representatives voted against the bill, erroneously called a bill for the protection of faithful and competent employees in the public service, but which is in reality a blow at the civil service system. The bill was passed by the House.

None of our representatives are recorded on the vote authorizing a bath house in Somerville at the expense of the Metropolitan district.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The May meeting of the school committee was held Wednesday evening, with every member present except the Mayor.

It was voted that grammar school pupils entering the high school from the eighth grade should be granted a grammar school diploma after one year's satisfactory work in the high school. It was also decided that two years' satisfactory work in the Industrial School be considered an equivalent for a corresponding period of work in the grammar school and that diplomas be granted pupils who complete that amount of industrial work.

Vacation schools were ordered held at Nonantum and Newton Centre for four weeks each, beginning July 11.

MUSICAL.

A brilliant musical program was given last Wednesday evening in Norumbega Hall, Auburndale, under the auspices of the Liedersheim School of Vocal Music. Mr. Carl Lamson of Boston was the pianist of the evening, and Mr. Leon Van Vleet of Boston the cellist. The soloists were Miss Hazel Pennington, Miss Nellie Sturgis and Miss Claire Kane. It was a social function as well as musical, and the program was elaborate. Both Mr. Lamson and Mr. Van Vleet played in their most delightful vein.

Another recital under the auspices of the Liedersheim School of Vocal Music is to be given in Norumbega Hall, Auburndale, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, by Liedersheim pupils. To this the public is cordially invited.

Shubert Theatre—The summer attraction at the Shubert Theatre which is so well designated as a "summer hummer" seems to have settled down into a very successful warm weather run at this newest and most beautiful of Boston's playhouses which is so well suited to giving comfort and joyous entertainment to large audiences during the May and June weeks. The attraction in question is Joseph E. Howard in "The Goddess of Liberty," with Stella Tracey and an exceptionally capable company. The third week begins Monday, May 30 (with an extra holiday matinee Memorial Day). There is not a little attractiveness, especially for out-of-town patrons, in the fact that the summer scale of prices provides for every seat on the lower floor at 50 cents, and every seat in the balcony at 25 cents at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees, and are all reserved. The same scale of prices provides for the best orchestra seats in the evening at only $1, while a good reserved seat may be had for 25 cents at evening performances. New features are being constantly introduced and a second or third attendance at a performance of "The Goddess of Liberty" is sure to provide much new entertainment.

Waban.

—The epidemic of mumps has made a fresh start the past week, a number of the older children succumbing.

—The A. E. Spencer family of Pine Ridge road go today to their summer home at North Scituate for the season.

—The Union Church Society held a sale of cake and candy at the residence of Mrs. J. F. Breck, Beacon street, last Friday, which was largely attended and financially successful.

—The Guild of the Good Shepherd will give a bridge and afternoon tea next week Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. O. Stetson, Pine Ridge road, the proceeds to be devoted to the "Mothers' Rest."

—The final meeting of the Duplicate Whist Club was held last Saturday evening with Mr. Joseph W. Bartlett of Waban avenue. Mr. C. A. Andrews of Moffett road passing Mr. A. C. Gould, who had led most of the season, and winning out in the last few hands.

—The Ladies' Circle of the Union Church elected its officers for next winter last Monday afternoon, as follows: President, Mrs. F. H. Putnam; vice-president, Mrs. William Gilmore; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Childs; treasurer, Mrs. F. W. Webster; executive board, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Breck and Mrs. Kimball.

—The storm last Saturday necessitated the postponement of the matches in the Mystic Valley Tennis League and the matches between Waban and Winchester will be played off the last of this week. The Waban team is strengthened by the presence of Dr. Parker, who is paired with Mr. Robinson in doubles for this match.

—Mr. Donald Campbell of Chestnut street met with a serious accident while boarding the 8:06 train for school last Monday morning. His foot slipped and his leg sustained a compound fracture in the fall. The train was moving at the time and he was helped on board and carried to Elliot, where he was brought home in an ambulance. He is resting comfortably.

—The Beacon Club celebrated the close of its most successful season on Monday night by a lively and much appreciated dinner at the City Club, Boston, a large number being in attendance. The dinner was excellent and the principal speaker, Professor A. B. Hart of Harvard University, greatly enjoyed. His topic was "A Yankee Globe Trotter," but he confined his speech to a description, illustrated by stereopticon views, of the far east, the Philippines, China, Japan and India, and his talk proved most interesting and instructive. The election of officers also took place, the slate being unanimously elected as follows: President, D. M. Hill; vice-president, William Gilmore; secretary, F. G. Marsh; treasurer, C. A. Sawyer; executive board, H. W. Hayes, F. W. Davis and J. L. Wright. Secretary of State Olin and General Matthews were among the invited guests.

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre—Now that the legitimate houses have closed, we are getting the best of what they have been offering during the season at Kelth's, for half the money, and of all the shows we have seen how many have really had more than 20 minutes of real life and fire. Coming to Kelth's you will see two great players, one of them no less than William H. Thompson, than whom there is no better character actor on the stage today. Next week at Kelth's he will be seen in the best short play that has been seen for many years. It is called "The Pride of the Regiment." Another feature of the bill will be Stuart Barnes, who is one of those who have the peculiar faculty of telling a story in such a manner that the point is brought home to one with lightning rapidity. The entire bill for the week has not been announced, some of the strongest features being held in reserve, but those already given are but an indication of what is to come. Montrell, the juggler, will make his first appearance here in what is said to be one of the greatest acts of the kind offered in recent years, and other features will be Reidy and Currier, singers and musicians, and Mulen and Correll, two of the cleverest acrobatic clowns the stage has ever seen.

Tremont Theatre—"The Girl in the Taxi," with Carter De Haven and its all-star cast of players, began its third great week of unparalleled success at the Tremont Theatre Monday evening before an audience that jammed that playhouse wall to wall. The same storms of applause and laughter which greeted the play's initial appearance in Boston were in evidence and the rapid-fire entertainment whirled along at its usual rattling clip from curtain to curtain. This is quite the best diversion any Boston playhouse has offered this season as its main and only purpose is to amuse. That it fulfills this primary object of the theatre is proven by the overwhelming audiences which congregate at each performance, with many hundreds of patrons turned away unable to secure even standing room. "The Girl in the Taxi" should remain at the Tremont all summer. It is a play that can be seen time and time again. It chases away one's blues and out-Halleys Halley's Comet for lightning speed and absorbing interest.

Boston Opera House—On Monday, May 30, the Aborn regime at the Boston Opera House will undergo transformation, throwing aside the mantle of grand opera and taking up that of comic opera. Opening with a special Decoration Day matinee Monday, the Aborn Comic Opera Company will begin its summer run with "Robin Hood," one of the greatest of all compositions of its class, as the offering for their initial week. The cast announced is a most attractive one, among the names being a number who appeared in the same roles with the famous former operatic organization, the Bostonians, in this place. The ex-members of that noted company to be seen in the Aborn revival of "Robin Hood" will be Estelle Wentworth as Maid Marian, Louise LeBaron as Alan-a-Dale, George B. Frothingham as Friar Tuck, Josephine Bartlett as Dame Durdin and Sabery D'Orsell. Other well-known and favored artists in the cast will be George L. Telman as Robin, Phil Branson as the Sheriff of Nottingham, Forrest Huff as Littlejohn, Harry Hensen as Guy of Gisbourne, Francis J. Doyle as Will Scarlet, and others.

For the second week beginning June 6, the American comic opera classic of the first week will be followed by "The Mikado."

THE RIGHT WAY TO WATER A LAWN.

Lawns are frequently damaged by the droughts of summer, and they are also badly injured by the pernicious watering they too frequently receive. There is only one way to water a lawn. That is to soak it so that the soil will be moistened for a foot or more deep, and watering will not be needed for a week. Most people water a lawn every day, but they give only enough water to wet the surface. This practice results in the plants producing their working roots near the surface, and when the family goes away for the customary two weeks' vacation, in the summer, the lawn burns up brown.—Suburban Life for June.

Pin your faith to a "WINCHES-TER" steam or hot water heating apparatus and you will never care how cold it is out of doors. The "WINCHES-TER" does what it was built for, namely, to make heat. Made by Smith & Thayer Co., 236 Congress street, Boston, Mass.
